It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

STATE OF MICHIGAN,
OFFICE OF SUPERINTENDENT PUBLIC INSTRUCTION, }
Marshall, December, 31, 1839.

To the Legislature to be convened at Detroit on the first Monday of January, eighteen hundred and forty:

The superintendent of public instruction, agreeable to the provisions of chapter one, title two of the revised statutes, has the honor to submit the following report:

The fundamental law of our state and subsequent legislation under it, provides for the general establishment of schools in all the departments of learning. The Michigan school system is based upon the principle of universal education, of education in the highest sense of the term, in all its varied branches; and not only contemplates but attempts to provide for the extension of education to every individual in the republic.

While the desirableness of education, in the best sense of the term, is admitted by every reflecting mind, its importance under a free government like ours, no one can fully estimate. Our fathers held it in the highest regard, for they planted their school houses with their churches, beside the war path of the Indian, while yet their first rude cabins but half sheltered them from the cold blasts of a New England winter. Since the Mayflower landed the "Anglo Saxon exiles," that band of noble spirits which laid the foundation of a far spreading and powerful empire, no period is to be found in the history of our country when education has not been more or less generally regarded as an object of the highest public concernment.

It is most assuredly an omen of lasting good to this infant community, and also a matter of congratulation, that so many are disposed not only to listen to, but to enter upon the discussion of a subject so transcendently important in all its bearings upon the great interests of man, as the education of a whole people. It is certainly desirable to extend a good education to every child in the state, of whatever name or complexion—such an education as is suited to his wants, to his condition and circumstances in life. To do thus much should be the settled purpose of every citizen of this rising commonwealth, and the high aim of its legislation and government.

As the desire of improvement is universal, why not extend the blessings of education to every individual of all classes? This desire is not only universal, but every member of the human family is capable of an endless progression in improvement. Progress is the great principle of human existence. Progress in knowledge—in morality—in expansion of intellect—in arts and the subjugation of all nature to his own uses—progress in civilization—in refinement—and in the more full enjoyment of his noble rational existence, is the all engrossing desire of man. Not of any one man, but the entire race. Why then confine the blessings of education to a privileged few? It can be desired by that few only for the purpose of converting the balance of our race into mere hewers of wood and drawers of water.

Man has not only the capacity and the power of continual advancement, but he has advanced often in the midst of the most adverse circumstances, from the beginning of time. Not every individual of every age and tribe, not every generation of men, but man in his social nature and condition as a sensitive and percipient being—the human race as a great and mighty family, have always been moving forward more or less rapidly in civilization and improvement. Besides, all men admire new forms of beauty—all are pleased with elegant, graceful and sublime objects—all desire to better their condition, to improve themselves and families, to enjoy more of life in its best sense, and all may improve and better their condition by wisely directed efforts. Why then resist this generous and ennobling impulse of human nature—why continue to chain down both body and soul in all the misery, the degradation, the meanness, the despair, the blackness and darkness of perpetual ignorance? Why resist the onward march of improvement to universal empire?

Children, as well as men, love improvement. They love to learn, go forward, see, hear, examine, compare, combine—the God of nature has formed them for it, and made them as susceptible of advancement in all that can adorn and beautify, as the earth is of cultivation; and this desire of improvement can no more be eradicated from the constitution of man than he can cease to be. So long as men desire the comforts of life, pure air, wholesome food, suitable clothing and convenient dwelling, they must constantly desire to better their condition. Why then do such men as Peel and Wellington, and the Archbishop of Canterbury regard with an evil eye and resist to utter desperation all efforts and plans to instruct and elevate the great body of the people? Why do they so strenuously oppose the establishment of schools throughout the empire, of which they are so prominent and powerful members? Is it because in these institutions men would learn to understand and appreciate their rights, powers, obligations and duties, and hence be no longer capable of being used as mere instruments to administer to the ambition, the pride, the pleasure and self-exaltation of the noble few? Or is it because they apprehend in case the schools succeed, that they and their families may be reduced to what is to them the most terrible of all evils, the necessity of laboring to provide for their own subsistence? But education, which is the cause of man, must and will triumph over all its enemies.

To educate is to draw out, unfold, devlope, enlarge and strengthen all the powers, faculties and susceptibilities of human nature. Education is hence the great business of human existence. It is the all important end to be pursued through life; while instruction is the presentation of facts, the communication of light and knowledge, and is one principal means of accomplishing that end. It is true, much depends on the education which is obtained through the manifold instrumentality that may be employed. "As the twig is bent, the tree's inclined." This declaration is full of meaning. How desirable then, that such an education be given and received, as will fit for continued and increasing usefulness?

Having provided for the establishment of schools, the inquiry naturally presents itself, how much can and ought to be done by them? Most certainly there are boundaries to human knowledge—there are limits beyond which it is useless for man in his present state to attempt a passage. But within these limits and boundaries there is such an amplitude of space, so great a variety of objects, such an accumulation and richness of treasure, as to be worthy the attention of every mind, and sufficient to employ all the powers of the most gifted intellect.

No doubt the university course should be full and thorough in all the departments of literature, science and the arts. Nothing short of this can satisfy the demands of the public, and the general expectation of its numerous friends. The branches should fill up the intermediate space between the parent institution and the primary schools; and consequently the course of studies in them should be such as will furnish the required preparation to enter upon the university course, and thoroughly trained and competent teachers for the common schools. In no circumstances should the appropriate ground of these schools be occupied by the branches. The primary schools are the all important institutions of our country; and hence, in carrying out the system nothing should be tolerated which may have the remotest tendency to endanger their usefulness. While thus much is required of the university and branches, the primary schools should furnish a good education to every child in the state. This is what they may do—this is what they ought to do; and they who have the direction of public affairs should aim at nothing less.

As there probably is some difference of opinion on the subject, it may be proper to consider at some length what is implied in a good education—in such an education as the primary schools ought to furnish. It appears evident to the undersigned, that the public expectation is not sufficiently raised in regard to what they are capable of doing. They are obviously fitted to do more, and to enter upon a higher career of usefulness, than has ever yet been asked of them. Let justice be done our schools, and they will soon exceed in their achievements the highest expectation of friends. The following considerations are presented as the result of experience and much reflection.

A good education necessarily implies a knowledge of ourselves. Know thyself, was one of the first precepts of an ancient teacher; and it is emphatically a precept of the first importance. A knowledge of what we are is essential. The nature of man is complex—two elements, matter and mind, are combined in his present existence. The body is the dwelling place of the living rational agent. How important to know the laws by which this complex being is governed, and how these two principles mutually affect each other.

Children should be early informed in regard to their bodily constitution. They ought to have a clear and correct knowledge imparted to them of what is necessary to its highest beauty, perfection, activity, vigor and health. Much of their usefulness and enjoyment of life through coming years depend on the early attainment of this essential knowledge. Did the fairer portion of our land know more of their bodily frame, of its different vital organs and their uses, is it conceivable that so many of them, in obedience to the dictates of an imported prostitute fashion, would willingly incur the guilt of self murder? Did they know themselves, is it to be believed that any of them would continue to lay violent hands upon that beautiful frame which God has given them, when certain that death must ensue? It is highly important to us as a people, to have a more accurate and thorough knowledge of that wonderful formation and curious product of divine wisdom—the body—the house in which we are destined while here, to live, move, think, feel and act. This knowledge of our frame—of its organization and parts—of its wants and relations to surrounding objects, is essential to preserve and prolong life. The average of human life in different countries, will be found to be in exact proportion to the prevalence of such knowledge. A man who knows what his physical constitution is, and requires, will not be likely to be either a glutton or a drunkard—but temperate in all things.

If a good education implies a knowledge of our bodily frame, how much more a knowledge of our rational nature. This nature is obviously three-fold, intellectual, moral and religious. The chief intellectual powers are perception, memory, reason, association of ideas, imagination and fancy; the moral powers are ability to distinguish between right and wrong—to will, choose and refuse; while the affections, emotions and passions form the heart, and constitute our religious being. It is in the highest degree important and essential to our welfare as individuals, to have a correct knowledge of this intellectual, moral and religious nature. We ought as a people to know more of the powers and susceptibilities of the human mind—of its workings—of its relations; what it can, and what it cannot achieve—when, and under what circumstances it can be most easily enlarged and improved. Such knowledge is essential to the instructor, and equally so to parents. Children should be early taught to turn their thoughts back upon themselves, for the purpose of observing the varied operations of their intellectual, moral and religious being.

It is highly important to know more of the relation between matter and mind, and how each is affected by this relation. If the brain is the chief instrument of mind in all its operations, then whatever may affect the brain must necessarily affect the mind. Both parents and teachers should fully understand and appreciate this law of our present existence. Without this knowledge, a child in feeble health may be permanently injured, if not sent to an early grave. Being unable to do much else, the child is kept close at study—the worst thing that could be done. The brain being unduly stimulated and excited, the whole system becomes deranged, and unless timely arrested, dissolution must ensue. It is also to be further observed, that in children muscular energy is often excessive—hence they need much exercise. Long continued confinement renders them uneasy, fretful, restless, miserable. Punishment in no form, neither chiding nor flogging, will cure this; it is human nature. In no case should they be kept, either in or out of school, more than one hour at close study, without giving them full liberty for that kind of exercise which they need. If allowed to run, skip, hop, jump, romp—as nature dictates—they will not be likely either to pull down benches, or wrench off doors from their hinges. If kept longer than one hour, the laws of our being are transgressed; both body and mind injured, and the whole man, for the time being, rendered unfit for further improvement. Disgust, hatred of schools, books, teachers, is the sure result. These things ought to be more generally known. Parents should know them; teachers also should know them; a good education implies a knowledge of them.

It implies, moreover, a knowledge of our country. To be ignorant of the country which gave us birth, sustained and protected us, is highly disgraceful. Every child should know the geography of his native land, its boundaries, grand outlines and features, the relative position of its principal mountains and valleys, bays and harbors, lakes and rivers, and navigable waters. Destitute of this information, no person can read understandingly a common newspaper. He may read of transactions upon the great lakes and rivers of our country, but he knows not whether they occurred among the Esquimaux, Hindoos, Hottentots, or among his own people. It is equally important to know its political divisions, the number and relative position of the states, their capitols, chief towns, ports of entry, and principal commercial cities. Ignorance of such things, pertaining to our country, should not be suffered where primary schools exist. Nor should it be allowed in regard to its geological formation. In the bosom of the earth there is an abundance of treasure, resources without limit, materials of untold importance and value; such as coal, salt, iron, gypsum, copper, lead, marble, silver and gold, with other useful articles; some of which must be had, being essential to human existence and comfort. Some knowledge of geology would save oftentimes an immense amount of labor and expense in searching for these hidden treasures, and aid greatly in the procurement of them when found. Such an education as ought to be given, would include a knowledge of the different soils, their composition, fertility, power and adaptedness to different productions, whether fitted for grass or grain, whether this or that crop will best succeed. This, to farmers, is of the first importance. Nor should they be ignorant of the various products of their country. It ought to be a shame to any one not to know where the articles he uses, which he wears, which he puts upon his table, were produced; whether in his own or some other state; whether in his own country or foreign lands. With this, every person should have some knowledge of the commerce of his country; what articles are imported, where procured, how and by whom produced, what are exported, where and to whom sent; whether this commerce is carried on by our people, and in their own ships, or by men and in ships of other nations. This would include a knowledge of the principal manufactures as well as agriculture of the country, as manufactured and agricultural productions form the chief articles of its commerce.

The institutions and laws of our country should be known. A correct knowledge of them is certainly implied in a good education. Hence they ought to be studied in all the primary schools. Every citizen should be acquainted with the government under which he lives, in its legislative, judicial and executive departments; and have a full understanding of the federal and state constitutions, which secures to every man his rights and liberties, civil, political and religious. No man can safely be ignorant of these things; no man can do his duty while ignorant of them. The names and duties of public officers, the tenure of their respective offices, how appointed; whether by direct vote of the people, or by some agent authorized by law to make the appointment, are matters of high concernment to every member of the republic. The same is true of public works—they ought to be known; children should be informed in regard to them. They are matters of general interest. They belong to the people; being their property. A good education must also carry along with it a knowledge of the manifold improvements of the age. These have changed the aspect of affairs throughout the civilized world; many of them are stupendous both in magnitude and power; the results exceed all previous computation. Who would be ignorant of these things? These improvements have settled Michigan, and other of the new states. Without them, these plains, openings, prairies and forests would still be what they were before the red man gave place to the white. Their moral effects also have been astonishingly great. Nations are now more intimate, with oceans rolling between, than families of the same state were a few years ago. All this is for good or for evil. Increased activity, energy, enterprise, much thinking, constant discussion, investigation of first principles, thorough examination of old systems; discarding of such as are not founded in truth; the exaltation of many to rights long denied them; these are the results, and the causes which produced them are pressing down with a weight and power almost resistless, upon the worn out, corrupt, fraudulent institutions of the old world. That they may soon sink under the pressure, and none be found to help them, is a consummation devoutly to be wished. Again it is asked, who would be ignorant of these things?

The history of our country is another branch of knowledge implied in a good education. Who would not have his children told the story of the pilgrims? Their wrongs, sufferings, fortitude, self-denial, love of liberty, wisdom and perseverance, laid the foundation for the rich inheritance which has come down to us. Who would not have his children told the story of Washington and his brave associates? Their heroic deeds and achievements in the war of the revolution, gave liberty and independence to our country. Who would not have his children told the story of those civic fathers that framed its present constitution and government? Their deliberations and counsels firmly established and secured to us what was begun by the pilgrims, and consummated by Washington and his associates in arms. It must be a burning shame to be ignorant of the history of one's own country—of such a history as ours—so full of novelty combined with instruction—so rich in incident, usefulness and entertainment—teaching by actual experiments, never before made, lessons of wisdom.

In addition to this knowledge of the geography, commerce, institutions, improvements and history of our own country, every child should have some general information imparted to him in regard to foreign lands. Most certainly, since we as a people have much to do with other nations, we ought not to be ignorant of their position and circumstances. We cannot safely, if we would, be ignorant of their history, productions, commerce, institutions and laws. We have so many interests, in common with them, that this knowledge is requisite for the protection of those interests.

Something should also be known of the mineral, vegetable and animal kingdoms. It is obviously important to large portions of the community to be versed in the history of metals—to know their strength, uses and relative value. To farmers some knowledge of the laws of vegetation—the germination of seeds and growth of plants, is exceedingly desirable. They are specially interested to know what is favorable to vegetable life—what is the necessary natural food of different species of plants, and the effect of cultivation upon them. They are equally concerned to have a correct knowledge of animal economy. They ought to know the history of the different species—their peculiar properties—uses—relative value—and how improved. No husbandman can safely be ignorant of these things.

The principles of architecture and mechanism must not be forgotten. The power and uses of different natural agents, as well as the mechanic arts, are essential elements in the knowledge of a people, who have millions invested in their manufacturing establishments, and who are constantly adding to those millions. All should know something of these things—and for mechanics to be ignorant of these matters is unpardonable.

In a republic like ours, every man needs to be acquainted with numbers. A knowledge of the first elements and rules of computation is essential. The ordinary trades, transactions and business of life requires it.

To this should be added a knowledge of book-keeping. With a commercial credit going people, accounts must be kept; and every person should know how to keep them.

As language is the instrument of thought, and medium of communication, a good education must carry along with it a knowledge of the proper construction, use and power of language. No one should be ignorant of his native tongue. Every individual should know how to speak it properly—to spell, read and write it correctly.

Above all, a knowledge of our relations, domestic and public, and consequent obligations and duties to each other, to our country and to God—is exceedingly important and desirable. Of things of this nature, no human being should be suffered to grow up in ignorance; and no one need to be ignorant of them. Our schools should cover the whole ground, and furnish the required information.

Here it may be proper to anticipate an objection. It may be said, if a good education implies what has been claimed for it, then it is useless for the children of tradesmen, farmers, mechanics and other laborers to think of obtaining it. This objection has sometimes been urged with confidence against the introduction of any branches into the primary schools beyond the simplest rudiments. It is affirmed, that such children must be employed a large share of their time in manual labor, and consequently reading, writing and the first elements of arithmetic, is all they can be expected to learn. Though this objection may have prevailed to a considerable extent, it is nevertheless founded altogether in mistake. The nature of man is such, no limit is to be prescribed to his attainments—he is capable of endless progression. The more he learns the easier it is for him to learn. The more he knows, the more readily does he advance from one field of science to another. What is still more important to his advancement, the light of one is reflected upon all the others; and his advance from one to another is made with a constant accumulation of light.

With proper instruction, children may obtain a correct, though in some cases limited knowledge of all the subjects mentioned before they are twenty years of age. In any event, many will do more than this. But it may be asked, shall they be kept in school the year round till twenty? By no means. From four to six months in the year, under good teachers, is all sufficient. During the balance of their time, if properly directed, whether in the kitchen, dining room or parlor, at home or abroad, in the field, workshop, mill or counting room, they will be constantly increasing in knowledge. And it may be added, that the knowledge thus obtained is an essential part of a good education. Experience teaches us that it is not necessary for young persons to spend all their time at books to become learned. The history of the greatest and best men in our country—of those who have attained the proudest eminence in literature, science and arts, makes it certain that high attainments and usefulness are not confined to those who have nothing to do in early life but go to school. Few of this class have ever been distinguished for any thing but idleness, extravagance and dissipation.

The value of good education, both to individuals and states, is above all price. Every considerate person must have some just appreciation of the essential value of knowledge in all the business transactions of life—in every department of human industry. It saves time and money, gives labor its chief productiveness and worth. A moderate compensation is the reward of mere physical force, while skillfulness, combined with a small amount of such power, commands high wages. A single team of oxen will do more in one day at ploughing than twenty men. Yet the oxen may be hired for half a dollar per day, while each of the twenty receives his dollar for the same time. Why this difference? The reason is, the oxen have nothing but mere brute force to be employed, while the man has mind and skill with which to direct his labor. The strength of the ox is of no account, without some one to guide and apply it, while that of the man is moved by intelligence within. That of the ox is mere physical labor directed by another, while that of the man is intelligent labor, directed by himself. The same difference to a certain extent obtains among men. One man commands low, another high wages. Why again this difference? Because the educated man has more intelligence and skill to combine with his labor, than the ignorant unlettered man; and it is, therefore, so much the more valuable.

Certain kinds of labor require a high degree of knowledge. Men, therefore, who possess the requisite skill, command the highest wages. They have something to sell besides mere physical strength, and something too of essential importance to their employer. Properly directed labor will often accomplish more in one day than ill directed labor can effect in a month. In England the great aim appears to be to make the most of their land, while with us the chief concern is to make the most of our labor.

How important then that this labor be wisely directed. But nothing can give it this direction but a good education. Our people are working men. Professedly there are with us no mere idlers, as a class—because it is disgraceful to be an idler; hence education becomes an object in the highest degree important to all our people. They cannot remain a prosperous people without it. It is essential to perfect their plans for the improvement of the country and their own individual condition. That knowledge which a good education furnishes is exceedingly valuable in all that pertains to human life, in the direction of household affairs, in the supply, management and economy of the kitchen, in the laying out and proper cultivation of the garden, in all the arrangements and business of the farm, in the gathering and preservation of all the products both of the farm and garden, in the building of houses, barns, mills, factories and other edifices, whether public or private, in digging a race or canal, in constructing a mill dam or railroad, in the manufacture of every variety of articles, whether for domestic or foreign use, in navigation and the multifarious operations of commerce, in all the business of government, in legislation, in the administration of justice, in all the professions, in the practice of law and medicine, in the pulpit and in teaching.

An ignorant man, in the midst of an educated community, must ever find it impossible to sustain himself. All with whom he has to do, seem to be above him. Others appear to enjoy the fruit of all his labor. And why is it so? Because he has not sufficient acquired knowledge to direct wisely his own efforts. Being unable to compete with his neighbors, he becomes disheartened, and gives himself up to crime. The inmates of state prisons are generally ignorant, uneducated men. Those, therefore, who suffer their children to grow up uninstructed, leave them without the means necessary to improve their condition, protect their rights, or even to preserve what they may have gained for them. The same is true of a state in the midst of nations generally educated. No people can prosper without intelligence and skill to direct state affairs. An ignorant community can never compete with a state guided by superior knowledge. What has enabled the government of Great Britain to lay under heavy contribution large portions of the globe? What has enabled the few of that island to tax many millions of people in other parts of the world? Superior knowledge. As education with them is confined to the privileged orders, they have contrived by various monopolies to appropriate to themselves a great share of the wealth and proceeds of the labor of their own country and people.

The history of the world in by-gone ages furnishes a most instructive lesson. It teaches us what ever must be the fate of an ignorant, uneducated people.

Our own history strikingly illustrates the value of knowledge among the great mass of the people. It lies at the foundation of all the improvements and enterprise of the country. It was the origin of that glorious revolution, which gave birth to a great, widely extended and growing republic; and liberty to all her citizens. Our fathers knew their rights. The people were all educated. No child was suffered to grow up ignorant of his rights, powers, obligations, duties. When of age, and called to act in the township assemblies—those pure democracies, to which a late distinguished writer has traced the origin of all our republican institutions—he was qualified to act his part with honor to himself and usefully to his country. When we can fully appreciate our present condition, prosperous and happy, in comparison with that of the great body of the people in other portions of the globe, we shall better understand, and form an inconceivably higher estimate of the value of knowledge among the people.

But how is a good education to be obtained? This is the all important question, and one which demands the most attentive consideration of the whole public. As already suggested, public instruction is one grand means of accomplishing this most desirable object. But public instruction must be based upon domestic teaching. It is in the family where the first steps are taken in the progress of knowledge. With a little care, children acquire at home much that is valuable. Unless the most stupid ignorance prevails in the domestic circle, fireside teaching will lay a broad and permanent foundation for high attainments at school. Without this, the establishment of schools can be of but little use.

It is while at home, in the infancy of days, that children learn the names of a multitude of objects. Here they learn the names of the different rooms and apartments which they occupy, with their uses, the names and places of different utensils, implements, and carriages, employed in and about the fraternal residence, whether upon the farm, or in the workshop—the names and uses of domestic animals; these, with a little care, they must learn in a short time. They learn also the names of the numerous objects with which their home is surrounded, with their peculiar properties and uses. They early become acquainted with the names of different trees, herbs, grasses, grain and roots, with the name of every kind of fruit and berries, with that of every shrub, bush and flower within their reach, and the names of the different earths, rocks and pebbles. Besides, they learn to apply to different actions the appropriate words. To one the word run, to another skip, to another hop, to another strike, to another leap, to another drive, to another ride, to another fly. They learn also to apply the proper appellations to distinguish the quality of objects, as good, bad—hard, soft—sweet, sour.

Here we have the first elements of language, and the first and most essential principles of knowledge acquired before the child is of a sufficient age to be sent to school. He has acquired a knowledge of things, and their names. He has not learned mere words, the signs of ideas. The process is simply this: an object is presented, it is viewed, perhaps, as children are wont to do, examined closely, the name of it is repeated, he associates with the object the name of it; whenever afterwards the object is presented, he calls it by this name. The child has thus learned the sign of an idea, but before learning it, he had acquired a knowledge of the thing signified by that sign. This is the order of nature. "It is plain, therefore, that a knowledge of the sign, and thing signified, is acquired as near together as may be."

But as parents have not, generally speaking, the requisite time, if they always had suitable qualifications, to give their children all the instruction which they need, public schools are established. At these schools, clear and definite instruction is expected to be given. Here they should be taught to spell the words they have already learned, and while learning to spell them, be taught how to put them together so as to form correct sentences. This may be done by requiring them to describe the objects with which they are acquainted. Let the first lesson be a description of the house in which they live; the next, a description of the objects around him; the next, a description of the objects between their own dwelling and the school house. The advantage of this course, which ought to be pursued for some time, would be the early formation of a habit of close observation and accuracy of description. Reading, writing and numbers would, as a matter of course, come in from day to day. Easy lessons in geography and history would soon follow; and from time to time, the elements of other branches of knowledge should be introduced. It is hence obvious, that the amount of valuable instruction to be given in the primary schools may be amazingly augmented. Let this method be pursued, and it will soon appear that much may be done beyond mere reading, writing and first rules of computation. These are not the ends to be aimed at in our schools; they are to be regarded as means of attaining that end, and that end is a good education. As already intimated, the proposed method of instruction would lead in early life to habits of close observation, and clearness and accuracy in relating facts and circumstances. The reason why children often seem confused in telling a story, is for the want of closely observing what they see and hear. If early called to describe objects with which they are familiar, this habit will soon be formed, and with it, habits of thinking and reflection.

Children, moreover, are fond of making experiments. This is an important principle in human nature, and is early developed. Such experiments as they are ever disposed to make, and such also as teachers might make for them by way of illustration, are essential means in promoting a good education. Some, however, appear inclined to repress this spirit in children; but nothing can be more injudicious. This disposition may need direction, but should never be repressed; it ought rather to be encouraged. Certain things can be learned only by experiment. This, therefore, is the only source of knowledge, so far as things of this nature are concerned. This is true of gravity, weight, resistance of bodies, the effects of physical force, action of fire and water, and the results when different substances are brought into contact. A knowledge of these and other laws, by which the universe is governed, can be acquired in no other way than by actual experiments. The philosopher is allowed to make his experiments, so should the child; for he is emphatically the greater philosopher—he is the most ardent lover of learning. More experiments should be introduced into our schools. Much might be done in this way with little or no additional expense. Many facts in geography, in natural history, in chemistry, in natural philosophy, in astronomy, and in other branches, may be readily illustrated and by the simplest apparatus. With such an apparatus every primary school may and should be furnished. The happiest effects would result from its use. This is no mere conjecture, but sober reality.

Suitable books and teachers constitute another important means of promoting a good education. Such books are highly valuable, but competent teachers are essential to the success of schools. A thoroughly trained and skillful teacher, with the most ordinary books, will do vastly more for his school than an incompetent teacher can, with the best books ever written. A good spelling book is important, so is a good reading book. Both should be adapted to the capacities of those for whom they are designed. The object of a spelling book is not the definition of words; but as the designation imports, it is intended chiefly to teach correct orthography; and it should be specially adapted to this purpose. A reading book is for improvement in the art of reading, and hence should contain some variety of composition. Every piece should contain something entertaining and useful, and be written in plain, simple and elegant language—in such language as children use—in language easy to be understood.

But it is to be remembered, that because a book comes with numerous commendations, it is not certain that it is adapted to the school room. Those concerned in the book trade find no difficulty in procuring them for any work, which they may wish to publish and have introduced. It is a money making business to exclude a book already in general use, and introduce into its place a new work. But to the public it is a money expending operation; and is often done without any adequate compensation. A real improvement, one of essential value, should be introduced, cost what it may. But to exclude an old work, for a new book of little or no additional worth, is ministering to individual profit at the public expense. To lay aside the spelling book now in general use for a new one, would cost our state in the outset an expenditure of from five to ten thousand dollars. It highly concerns the public to determine whether enough is to be gained to pay the price of the exchange. It is confidently believed, that it would be far more profitable to the people to expend that amount in giving additional qualifications to teachers. We have a multitude of writers of school books, but few indeed are the persons qualified to write for children; and it is because only here and there one can throw himself back to days of childhood, and call to mind how children think, feel and reason. Hence the general want of adaptedness in school books to the capacities of children. In the midst of that multitude is to be found a Webster, a Gallaudet, a Pierpont, a Peter Parley, and the accomplished Mrs. Sigourney. Perhaps to this list should be added a few others. The works of these authors will live, because to high literary attainments and talents, they have superadded that peculiar adaptedness, without which a school book is of little value.

The spelling book in general use is constructed on a principle of the utmost importance, so far as uniformity of pronunciation throughout the country is concerned. In the work, which is now sought to be substituted in place of it, and all others indeed, this principle is entirely abandoned. "But the change of the usual mode of instruction will be followed by a consequence not generally foreseen. Most of the present generation have been instructed in elementary books, in which the words are classified according to the sounds of the letters, the number of syllables, the accented syllables, and the terminations. The effect has been that children learn with great facility, as uniformity and sameness assist the memory: and by the frequent repetition of words with the same accent, our common people have acquired a habit of correct pronunciation which is so remarkable as to be a subject of observation with foreigners—and by the general use of one book, this pronunciation is almost uniform from one extremity of our nation to the other. This excellent classification—which it is believed was first made by Mr. Webster, and which has been introduced into all elementary books—is now to be abandoned. The book, which is sought most earnestly to be introduced, “has no classification; all sorts of words are jumbled together, with no key to the pronunciation, either of vowels or consonants. For such a defect, there is no equivalent; the child loses what he cannot afterwards gain; and if he learns a few definitions, he learns what may be more correctly learned at a later period.” Let this principle of classification be retained, and the same desirable uniformity of pronunciation will continue to prevail throughout the length and breadth of our widely extended country. But let it be abandoned, and the foundation is at once laid for as many brogues and dialects as exist on the island of Great Britain, where the inhabitants of one county often find it exceedingly difficult to understand those of its nearest neighbor. Besides many of the definitions of the books proposed to be introduced, are as inaccurate as can well be imagined, and some of them supremely ridiculous. Words entirely different in their origin and signification are put down as “definers of each other,” thereby introducing perfect confusion into the language.

By “An act relative to school books and books for school district libraries,” approved March 4, 1839, it is made “the duty of the superintendent in his next annual communication to the legislature, to report what provision in his opinion could or ought to be made by law to insure a regular and sufficient supply of such books to every school district on the most economical terms, or what other provision, if any, should in his opinion be made to insure uniformity, as near as may be, in the books to be used in primary schools.”

The act, of which the foregoing forms a part, was passed in consequence of a petition praying the legislature to provide by law, for a better supply, as well as a greater uniformity of school books. This petition grew out of the difficulty which many experience in different parts of the country, in procuring at a reasonable price, suitable books. The following letter from a respectable citizen, addressed to the undersigned, contains the plan of the petitioners.

“Burlington, Calhoun Co., Nov. 29, 1839.

“SIR—Agreeable to your request, that I “should briefly give you the views of those who have heretofore petitioned the legislature to provide by law for a uniformity of elementary books to be used in the primary schools, and for the supply of schools and school district libraries, with approved works at cost prices," I would respectfully suggest that legal provision be made, directing the superintendent of public instruction to purchase legally approved books and stationery at his discretion, equal to the probable wants of the schools and school district libraries, and establish a general depository at such place in the state as he shall think proper, and from time to time shall cause to be distributed a suitable portion of them to each organized county, the treasurer of which shall be the keeper of a depository for his county.

Each treasurer shall appoint a person in each organized township in his county, to keep a depository of school books.

Each keeper of county and township depository shall sell to residents of Michigan at such uniform prices as shall be established by the superintendent.

The superintendent to be authorized to use such portion of the principal of the school fund as shall be necessary to pay for the books purchased, and add the interest thereof, with the necessary charges and commissions, to the cost of the books, in graduating the selling price.

The whole to be under such legal guards and restrictions as shall insure the faithful execution of the system.

All which is respectfully submitted, by

Yours, &c.

ELISHA TYLER.

Honorable J. D. PIERCE,

Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Could some plan of this nature be put in successful operation, it would doubtless contribute to the public advantage. As it now is, the districts, in most cases, are obliged to rely upon the merchants for a supply. This supply is often irregular—many of the books purchased are of the most inferior description, and frequently sold at high prices—some purchase one kind, some another; and this introduces confusion of books into many of our schools. But whether any system like that proposed can be safely attempted, is for the legislature in its wisdom to determine.

It is certainly a matter of high gratification to witness the increasing interest apparent in nearly all parts of the state, in promoting the great work of education. This is shown in the general fullness of the returns—the length of time the schools have been kept in the different districts, and in the amount of money voluntarily raised for their support, and the building of school houses. In 1836, 2,337 were reported—in 1837, 15,471—in 1838, 34,000; while the present year, 45,892 have been reported between the ages of five and seventeen.

The regents of the university have manifested a praise-worthy zeal in forwarding the great work assigned them. It is the earnest desire of the undersigned to see that institution firmly established, and so nurtured and reared into a manly existence, as to become the pride of our state, where all our youth who may wish it shall have the means of attaining a finished education, and perfecting themselves in all that can adorn and beautify human character. But with the parent institution, it is equally important to sustain the branches. Without these, it is obvious the institution can never flourish. To cut them off would be to cut off its main dependence and dry up its chief resources.

The following shows what ought to have been paid, besides the balance of the preceding year:

Amount of school lands sold—acres 50,341, for	$545,261
Amount of university lands sold—acres 7,271, for	164,595
Interest on $545,261,	$38,168

It is true a portion of this land has been actually forfeited, given up and resold, but not enough to vary essentially the above statement. How much will be actually forfeited, time only can determine.

The following is an exhibit of the condition of the university and school fund :

During the past year, lands have been offered for sale at public auction in nine different counties.

The amount heretofore reported as due on notes, for use of university and school lands, is still unpaid; a portion, however, is now in process of collection.

It is due in justice to say, that the indebtedness to the state bank, is not owing to any advance of money to the undersigned, either as an individual or a public officer. In the course of 1838, several counties made application for loans, and deposited their bonds in that bank, as then required by law. The bank cashed those bonds in anticipation of payments to be received the succeeding fall and winter. More was advanced than was actually received of principal. It was agreed, as the loans had been formally negotiated, that the bank should be repaid as fast as money, that could be thus applied, should be received ; and hence the balance was charged to the account of the superintendent ; but the money was never in any form advanced to him.

Though some modifications of the university and school law may seem desirable, yet frequent changes are exceedingly to be deprecated. It has so happened in some cases, that by the time the people in remote parts have received the enactments of the legislature, they have been either repealed or modified ; which has led to difficulty and litigation. Unless injustice is done, it is manifestly unwise and impolitic to change until the system has had time to be fairly tested. It unsettles the public mind and destroys public confidence.

Two thousand five hundred copies of the primary school law have been printed and distributed, as directed by the legislature during its session in the winter of 1839.

All which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN D. PIERCE,
Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Report of the Regents of the University.

In accordance with the requirements of the tenth section, chapter two, title eleven of the statutes of the state of Michigan, the board of regents of the university respectfully submit their second annual report.

For a detailed history of their proceedings from their organization to the close of the year 1838, the regents need only to refer to their report for that year.

Within the present year the branch at Kalamazoo has been discontinued, and one at White Pigeon and one at Tecumseh established. The others continue as heretofore.

There are six teachers employed as principals and six as tutors. Of the latter, two are females employed in the female departments.

The number of pupils under instruction in the branches, agreeable to the several reports of the principals for 1839, is as follows:

Names of Branches.	1st term.	2nd term.	3d term.	Average number of scholars for the year.
Pontiac,	15½	15	17	16
Monroe,	47	41	70	52½

Kalamazoo,	30	22	susp'd	26

Tecumseh, organized May 15th.		10	13	11½
	<hr/> 203½	<hr/> 206	<hr/> 218	<hr/> say 222

For the salaries paid, tuition fees received, with a full statement of the finances of the university, the regents would respectfully refer to a report of their committee on finance, which, by a resolution of the board has been made a part of this report, and which is herewith submitted.

The condition and progress of the university proper will be best understood by a reference to the same report. Two professors have been chosen. The one, Dr. Gray, was reported last year, and is now receiving a salary. The other, Dr. Douglass Houghton, was appointed professor of geology, mineralogy, &c., in October last, but has not yet fully entered upon his duties and is receiving no salary. The regents appointed Dr. Houghton at the time mentioned, that he might arrange during the present winter, in one of the university buildings appropriated for that object, and now ready for their reception, the minerals, zoological and other specimens in natural science, collected and intended, as is inferred, to be placed under charge of the regents. Four buildings are now erected and nearly completed. These are ultimately designed for the residence of professors. For the present it is contemplated to appropriate one of them for recitation rooms, another for the specimens in zoology, mineralogy, philosophical apparatus, library, &c., and the remaining two as dwellings for professors. The erection of the main edifice will be postponed until the wants of the state and the resources of the university fund shall indicate the necessity and expediency of its erection.

It will be perceived, however, that the regents are now prepared to receive and preserve such specimens of the collections in mineralogy, zoology, botany, &c., belonging to the state, as the legislature may be pleased to intrust to their care; and that a building is provided for that object. A memorial, having reference to alterations in the organic laws of the university, will be presented to the legislature at an early day, to which the attention of that body is most respectfully invited.

The regents have great satisfaction in view of the onward course of education, as well in our common schools as in the branches of the university during the past year. The former being justly appreciated as the only nursery to the latter.

An uniform system of instruction, books, discipline, &c., has been introduced in all the branches. With a view to this object the principals of branches were convened in May last. Their knowledge and experience in teaching were consulted, and a digest of rules and regulations, with a catalogue of text books, designed for the government and use of branches, was adopted and published. A pamphlet containing the same is herewith submitted and intended as part of this report.

The regents are not insensible to the present extraordinary embarrassments of the state. That consequently, their resources, from interest upon sales of lands, have been much less than their anticipations during the past year. Yet they are not discouraged. In Michigan, the bough of science may bend to the blast of adversity, but her free institutions, and the virtue and intelligence of her freemen are sufficient guaranty that it will not be impaired or broken. The regents, therefore, feel assured that the legislature will foster, with parental solicitude, the fund of the university, rendering it a secure and permanent blessing to the present and future generations.

In the appointment to a trust of great and varied responsibility as that of teachers of the sons and daughters of freemen, the regents feel an obligation resting upon them of no ordinary import. They, therefore, cannot but acknowledge with gratitude the hand of a kind and overruling Providence in the bestowment of principals and tutors to the branches, not only qualified to instruct in the several departments of science, but also upon whom every reliance may be placed for inculcating those principles and that knowledge, which under the influence of the spirit of God, make wise unto eternal life. The regents feel assured, that, with intellectual cultivation, the minds of youth, committed to such instructors, will be imbued with that morality and religion which will permanently influence their hearts and lives. And to such education and such influences alone can this republic look for the prosperity and permanence of her free institutions.

Respectfully submitted in behalf, and by direction of the regents.

To the Board of Regents of the University of Michigan :

The committee appointed by a resolution of the board of regents, of the 15th July, 1889, "to examine into the existing state of the finances of the university, and to propose a proper mode of making future disbursements," have the honor to submit their report.

Inasmuch as no general report of receipts and disbursements has ever been made, the committee have deemed this an appropriate occasion for doing so, although not strictly enjoined by the terms of the resolution. They have accordingly availed themselves of such sources of information as have been accessible, in the absence of all regular statements by the former treasurer of the board. These have been the reports of the superintendent of public instruction, the books of the bank of Michigan and the Michigan state bank, and the secretary's book containing an account of warrants issued. The committee have made a careful examination of the last mentioned book, and prepared from it an abstract of expenditures, which upon comparison is found to agree with the accounts of the banks.

The receipts into the treasury from the 5th December, 1837, to the 16th December, 1839, are as follows:

From the board of trustees of the former university of Michigan,	$5,454 71
" the state of Michigan, on loans in bonds of the state, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum,	100,000 00
" the bank of Michigan, premium upon the sale of said stock to said bank,	6,038 50
" the treasurer of the state, being interest on university lands sold for the year ending Aug., 1838,	9,433 13
" the bank of Michigan, interest upon the balance of account up to Jan. 1, 1839,	2,583 82

The sum paid to the superintendent of public instruction to be re-loaned, as acknowledged in his report is,	5,454 71

	$118,055 45

The expenditures from the 2d December, 1837, to the 16th December, 1839, have been as follows:

For the salary of one professor in the university,	$1,500 00
" the support of branches,	13,150 09
" library, cabinet of minerals, &c., for university,	8,279 51

The available funds now at the disposal of the board of regents, consist of a balance of moneys on deposit in the bank of Michigan, bearing interest at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, (fifty thousand dollars of which sum is payable, according to the bond of the bank, on the 1st of July, 1841, with a condition to advance from time to time, in the year preceding that date, such sums as the necessities of the board may require,)

$55,644 90

This sum will be increased on the 31st instant by interest to be paid by the bank on that day,

$6,155 02

The amount of interest for the year ending in August, 1839, on university lands sold is not yet ascertained, but may be estimated at $11,350, of the collection of which your committee have no means of forming an opinion.

The sums due by the university include the following items:

The salary of Professor Gray for the year ending 17th July, 1839,

$17,200 00

To which may be added the interest to accrue upon sales of lands hereafter to be made. These will depend in a good degree, upon the state of the country, now much embarrassed.

In regard to the mode of making disbursements, your committee remark that no systematic plan has hitherto been pursued. The warrants of the board have been directed to the treasurer of the university, but in most cases they have been paid by the bank of Michigan. The treasurer has in fact received no money excepting that which was deposited in the Michigan state bank, nor has he in fact paid any other than the sums charged in his account with that bank, yet the records exhibit an account in his name, charging the university with all the warrants paid by the bank of Michigan up to the 5th January, 1839, and showing a balance due to him of $11,235 03, when in truth he was debtor to the university in a considerable sum.

The reason assigned for this mode of disbursement has been the desire to leave the moneys in the bank of Michigan in a condition to draw interest agreeably to the contract with that bank. This object may still be attained, according to the spirit of the agreement, by adopting the plan which your committee have the honor to propose, namely: to direct the treasurer to lay before the board of regents from time to time, his estimates of the sums required to meet the expenditures of the university, and to issue warrants upon the bank for so much of these sums as are not supplied by the ordinary receipts into the treasury. In this way the account of the treasurer will exhibit all the expenditures. In the present mode, unless he borrows the vouchers from the bank, as was done by the late treasurer, his account will show a part, and the bank account will contain the other part, the latter being made without any actual authority from the regents.

Your committee further recommend, that the treasurers of the branches be required to pay to the treasurer of the university, before the expiration of every term, the sums received for tuition and applicable to the payment of teachers' salaries, in order that the same may appear in the accounts of the board. At present these sums are held by the treasurers or deducted from the stipends of the teachers, and it is difficult to ascertain the exact receipts of the branches. These payments should also be reported to the secretary of the board, and by him charged against the treasurer of the university.

Respectfully submitted.

Items entered in abstract from 6th to 18th April, 1839, supposed to have been paid out of $2,000, charged in state bank account, May 4, 1839.

The items $336 67 and $95 50, in state bank account, do not correspond with any amounts in warrant book, and are not understood.

There was a warrant, 6th January, 1838, of $127 59, which does not appear in the shape of that sum in any account of payment by either bank, but has been included in Mr. Norton's account with the regents.

I find in Mr. Norton's account with bank of Michigan these checks charged, which do not correspond with any entry on warrant book.

On motion of judge Wilkins,

Resolved, That the report of the finance committee be made a part of, and accompany the annual report of the board of regents of the university, to the superintendent of public instruction.

Extract from proceedings of board of regents, of December 18th, 1839.

A. TEN EYCK, Secretary.

Code of laws for the government of the Branches of the University of Michigan, adopted by the Board of Regents of the University.—[Extract from the Journal of the Board of Regents.]

“Resolved, That no branch shall be established until a deed for a suitable quantity of land shall be executed to the board of regents, and security given for the erection of the necessary buildings thereon, and for the donation of one hundred dollars for the foundation of a branch library; the security to be approved by the committee on branches, or their agent, and the donation for the library to be expended under their direction.

The successful application of the means placed at the disposal of the regents, depends so much upon the fulfillment of the conditions expressed in the foregoing resolution, and the establishment of properly regulated boarding houses near the branches in the interior of the state, that the committee under whose direction this edition of the laws is published, cannot refrain from making an appeal to the public spirited citizens residing in the immediate vicinity of these institutions, in their behalf.

From official communications which have reached the board of regents, they have learned with regret that many young men who have sought admission into the branches, have been turned away for want of appropriate places of study, and of boarding houses adapted to the wants and pecuniary abilities of the applicants for admission.

The committee, therefore, impelled by a sense of duty to those who must send their sons and daughters from home to be educated, adopt this mode of addressing those who stand pledged to fulfill the stipulations of the contract entered into with the regents of the university, for the organization and maintenance of a branch in their respective places of residence. The amount received by the board for tuition, and expended in payment of teachers, is now as one to three. Unless then, our branch buildings can be constructed so as to furnish accommodations for twenty or more students from abroad, these institutions will draw so heavily upon the income of the university, that it will be out of the power of the regents to increase or even to sustain, for any length of time, the number at present in operation.

One tenth of the funds arising from tuition is pledged by the board of regents to the increase of the branch library founded by the donation asked for as a pre-requisite to the establishment of each of these institutions.

fending, and faithfully administer the laws established by the regents.

4. The principal shall keep a book in which he shall register the name and age of each student, the date of the admission of each, together with the name and residence of his parent or guardian, and the time and circumstances of his leaving the institution.

5. The principal shall report to the board of regents within ten days before the close of each term, the number of students in attendance, the various studies pursued by them, the number pursuing each particular branch, the manner in which they are studied, the number of instructors employed, the aggregate time devoted by all instructors, the time devoted by each, and the manner in which each discharges his duty, the success of their instructions, together with all such other particulars as the board of regents may especially require ; and he shall also make suggestions for improvement in the method of instruction and internal economy of the institution as may occur to him. (See form at end of report.)

6. Whenever any branch of the university shall be fully established, and annually thereafter, the regents shall appoint for such branch, a board of visitors, five in number, whose duty it shall be to superintend a public examination of the students at the close of each term, and to report to the regents the results of such examination.

7. All questions relating to the general administration of each branch, arising between the principal and tutors, or between the principal and students, their parents or guardians, shall be submitted to the board of visitors, to be by them decided, subject to an appeal to the board of regents ; and a meeting of the board of visitors may at any time be convened by the principal, or by any two of their own number, by giving seasonable notice of the time and place for such meeting.

8. A treasurer for each branch shall in like manner be appointed annually by the board of regents, who shall enter into such bonds as they shall prescribe, with securities to be approved by the principal and the board of visitors, for the faithful disbursement or rendition of all moneys which may come into his hands by virtue of his office, and for the faithful discharge of the duties which may devolve upon him in consequence of such trust.

Chapter II.—Of Admission into the Institution.

ART. 1. Every applicant for admission as a student, must adduce satisfactory evidence of good moral character. Should he have been a member of any other branch, he must produce a certificate thereof. He shall also undergo an examination satisfactory to the principal, in reading, spelling, writing, the elements of English grammar, geography and arithmetic: provided that the examination in English grammar may be dispensed with, in the case of those pupils who design to pursue a course of classical studies.

Terms of admission to the female department, shall be a satisfactory examination in reading, writing, spelling, and the rudiments of geography.

2. The time of entering a branch and forming a class to commence the course of studies, shall be the first of each term. Applicants for admission subsequent to this, must be prepared to join the class which commences on the first day of said term.

3. Tuition shall in all cases be paid in advance to the treasurer of the branch, or satisfactory security be given for its payment at the close of the term.

4. At the beginning of each term the principal, with the board of visitors, shall make an assessment for incidental expenses, to be paid at the same time with the term bill, and if at the expiration of the term there shall remain an unexpended balance, it shall be refunded.

5. The laws for the government of the institution shall be publicly read in the audience of all the students on the first Monday of each term, and no plea of ignorance shall be admitted in extenuation of their violation.

Chapter III.—Studies and Examinations.

1. The studies pursued in the institution shall embrace reviews of English grammar, geography and arithmetic, and such branches in the departments of English literature, mathematics and physics, the languages, and intellectual, political and moral science, as shall be necessary to qualify young men for the university, for teaching or for business.

2. No text books shall be used except those authorized by the regents.

3. The arrangement of studies and the appointment of all exercises in them, shall be under the direction of the principal.

Chapter IV.—Vacations, Buildings, &c.

1. Vacations shall be from the 6th of August to the 18th of September; from the 24th of December to the 2d of January, and from the 19th of April to the first of May; and no holidays shall be allowed during either of the terms, the 4th of July excepted.

2. No student shall absent himself from the institution in term time, without permission from the principal.

3. No student shall occupy a room in the buildings of the institution, or change his room, or make alterations or repairs, without leave from the principal.

4. All damages done to the property of the institution shall be repaired at the expense of the aggressors, if they are ascertained; otherwise at the expense of all the students. Offences against cleanliness shall be regarded as damages.

5. The principal and the board of visitors appointed by the regents, shall inspect the buildings, at least once in each term, to take note of all such violations, and make assessment of damages accordingly.

6. The treasurer shall employ suitable persons to procure wood, ring the bell, and perform other necessary offices; the expense of which shall be defrayed out of the contingent fund.

Chapter V.—Hours of Study—Religious Exercises—General Deportment.

1. Every student on his admission shall be considered as devoting his undivided attention to his studies as a student; not only during the hours of recitations in the institution—that is from 9 to 12 A. M., and from 2 to 5 P. M., during the summer, and from 2 to 4½ P. M., during the winter—but also at all other times; for which reason the time from 6 to 8 A. M. in the summer, and from 6½ to 9 P. M. during the winter, shall specially be considered as hours of study. No excuse shall be admitted for any neglect of study on the ground that the student had been otherwise employed.

2. The exercises of each day shall be opened with the reading of the scriptures and prayer; at which time every student, unless specially excused by the principal, or at the request of the parent or guardian, shall be present. Every student shall also attend some place of public worship on Sunday, unless excused at the request of the parent or guardian.

3. Monitors shall be appointed by the principal, who shall report all absences from religious exercises and tardiness at the same, which, together with absences from recitation and other omissions of duty, shall be noted and registered by the government.

4. It shall be the duty of each student, whenever he may have an excuse for any apparent violation of the laws of the institution, voluntarily offer the same to the principal.

5. The conduct of the students towards all men, and particularly towards their instructors, is to be regarded by those plain rules of politeness, honor, and religion, which are binding on every free and virtuous community. They shall conform to every requisition of the officers of the institution which may arise from their relations as instructors and counsellors, and as upright and good citizens they are required to use all lawful exertions to prevent and expose all violations of the laws of God and the country, and whatever is at variance with the objects of the university.

6. In order that the principal of the institution may be enabled, the more effectually to guard the students from evil, no student from abroad may board or reside in any place disapproved of by him, and any instructor shall be readily admitted into the rooms of any such student at any time, and into the rooms of all students occupying rooms in the building of the university, and if not admitted, an entrance by force may be made, and all damages thence arising shall be paid by the student offending. Every thing in the buildings of the institution shall be accessible to an officer.

7. Penalties, in case of pupils not more than sixteen years of age, and when the misdemeanor does not require suspension from the privileges of the university, shall be at the discretion of the instructors, subject to the control of the principal. In all cases when a student, after repeated counsel and warning, appears to be incorrigibly indolent, troublesome or vicious, and is, in the opinion of the principal, an injurious member of the institution, notice shall be given to his parent or guardian, and his connection with the university dissolved.

8. There shall be published at the close of each term, a statement showing the standing of each student in his studies and also in his deportment. Instead of the name, a cypher shall be employed, and made known only to the student and his parent or guardian. The first statement shall be made out from the average of daily recitations; if these have been perfect, he shall be marked 40, or with a number proportionately less as they fall short of the standard of perfection. If his attendance and deportment have been exemplary, he shall be marked 40, or with a number less, in proportion as those fail to be satisfactory.*

9. It shall be the duty of each student to be present at all examinations of his class; and if any scholar shall absent himself, without giving to the principal a satisfactory reason, he shall be considered as dishonorably dismissed.

Chapter VI.—Of Term Bill.

1. Tuition shall be in the branches of Detroit and Monroe for the first year, $19 50; for the second year, $18; for the third and every succeeding year, $15. In the other branches it shall be first year, $15; for the second year, $13 50; for the third and every succeeding year, $12; and one tenth part of such tuition fees shall be appropriated under the direction of the principal and board of visitors for the purchase of works of reference and books for the branch library.

*Thus the annexed statement shows that the student whose cypher is B F is perfect in his studies, but a little deficient in attendance or deportment; whilst A H has done but little in his studies, and his deportment has been decidedly bad. Excused deficiencies are not noticed in this statement.

2. If a student shall leave, or be dismissed before the middle of the term, he shall be charged for one half of the same; and if after the middle, for the whole.

3. When any student, after having pursued a course of study in any branch of the university, shall engage as teacher of primary schools in this state, the regents will refund his tuition, viz: one year's tuition for each year he shall spend in teaching, until he shall have received a sum equal to the amount paid by him for tuition at the branch.

Chapter VII.—Of Dismission.

1. Any student, not a minor, or whose parent or guardian requests it, may have a certificate of dismission under the signature of the principal, if he sustains a good character, and all dues of the university are satisfied; but the certificate may not contain anything respecting his scholarship unless he be examined for that purpose.

Chapter VIII.—Of the Library.

1. The library of each branch shall be open to the students and officers thereof, under such regulations and by-laws as shall be prescribed by the principal and approved by the board of visitors.

The following resolution is published for the information of all who are in anywise officially connected with the branches of the university of Michigan:

From the journal of the Board of Regents.

“Resolved, That the laws for the government of the branches contemplate, in the opinion of the regents, a series of uninterrupted studies; and therefore, that any suspension of the usual and regular recitations on Wednesday afternoon, is clearly in violation of said rules.”

Report of the Auditor General to the Hon. Legislature, at its session, January, 1840.

AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
Detroit, December 14, 1839. }

Having been appointed by his excellency governor Mason, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of the late auditor general, Robert Abbott, Esq., it becomes my duty to report the transactions of this department for the year 1839. By a law of the last session of the legislature, the fiscal year was thereafter directed to commence with and terminate on the 1st December; in pursuance of that law, this report embraces the transactions of this office, between January 1st and November 30th, 1839—each branch under its appropriate head.

General Fund.

The expenditures charged to the above mentioned fund, amount to the sum of $160,368 92, (see abstract A,) for particulars, reference is hereby made to the account current against the state treasurer, which, with a balance against the state on the 1st day of January last, of $11,553 26, makes $171,922 18 the gross amount of disbursement for the general expenses of the state. The receipts to the credit of the general fund amount to the sum of $144,270 33, (see abstract B,) by which it will be seen the balance against the state for over drafts on the Michigan state bank, and warrants afloat unpaid, amounts to the sum of $27,651 85; in other words the net receipts from all sources to defray the current expenses of the state, are deficient by that sum.

It will be perceived, that the receipts from all sources that should properly be resorted to for the payment of current expenses, form an inadequate amount to meet the demands for that purpose; and the time has now actually arrived, when it becomes necessary to depend upon such sources of revenue as are afforded, by the ample means within the state, rather than resort to the ruinous policy of supplying the treasury from temporary or permanent loans.

The limited sources of revenue within the state at its organization, and the necessity which then existed for a resort to loans to meet the large and extraordinary demands against it, cannot at present, under its increased wealth and population, form an excuse for a further resort to loans to meet its expenses—the more direct, means for the support of a government comes from the people, the more likely the expenditures of those means are to be husbanded. Acting upon the principle then, that government must be supported from sources within the state, it becomes necessary to inquire what those sources are that can be taxed.

The following are the only ones that present themselves to my mind:

1st. Merchants, traders, peddlers and tavern licenses, or specific state taxes.

2d. Auction duties.

3d. Direct taxation upon property.

The two first items form a small part of the yearly amount necessary to defray the expenses of the state, so that the burthen must fall upon the property holders in shape of a direct tax. Heretofore, as is exhibited by reference to the reports of former years, the amount derived from all sources, taxation included, has been greatly less than the expenditures; and upon that subject it may be truly said, the people have not been onerously taxed for the support of the state government, however much a contrary report may have been circulated for political or sinister purposes, and which no doubt has operated against the best interests of the state.

I annex an estimate of the probable expenses of the state for the coming fiscal year, and the probable amount of resources, (see statement C.)

Taxation and return of delinquent taxes.—Taxation.

By the "Act to provide for the assessment and collection of taxes for the year 1838, and for other purposes," approved April 19, 1839, all taxes for state purposes levied previous to 1838, were to be remitted, and the amount actually paid into the state treasury, or otherwise made available, was to be credited to the counties making such payments respectively, to apply on the assessment to be made under that act for the year 1838, and by the practical operation of the act, to apply toward payment of the assessments for the year 1839, against those counties having balances due them. I have appended the following abstract statements and statement of accounts with the counties, showing the practical operation of the above mentioned act. By reference to statement F, it will be seen that the net revenue accruing for the year 1838, amounted to only $4,067 49, viz:

1st. Statement of state tax apportioned to the several counties for the year 1838, at the rate of two mills on the dollar, on the aggregate assessment for years 1837 and 1838, marked D.

2d. Statement of state tax apportioned for year 1839, marked E.

3d. Recapitulation of balances due to and against the several counties on the first day of May last, shewing the net amount of revenue accruing to the state by the apportionment of state tax for year 1838, after deducting previous payments and interest on the same, marked F.

4th. Recapitulation of balances due from the several counties on account state taxes for years 1838 and 1839, as per the accounts current with the several counties, marked G.

5th. Recapitulation of balances due to the several counties for delinquent taxes, returned to this office, for year 1838, as per accounts current with the several counties, marked H.

6th. Statement of the amount of delinquent taxes returned to this office for year 1838, from the several counties, respectively, marked I.

Also statement of accounts with the several counties, numbered from No. 1 to No. 31, inclusive.

Delinquent Taxes.

Returns have been made from all the peninsula counties in the state for the year 1838, and from the county of St. Clair, only, for years 1836 and 1837, of lands delinquent for taxes, and amounting to the sum of $99,961 51, which have been entered to the credit of the several counties, and are in part accounted for, as will appear more fully by reference to the statement of accounts with the counties. In consequence of the great redundancy of state stocks, and exceeding depressed state of the eastern money markets, from whence purchasers of our stock are to be sought, cash sales of the stocks contemplated to be issued for the purpose of anticipating the amount of taxes returned, have been made to the extent of $20,000 only. The consequence is, that the law, which contemplates prompt payments being made to the counties for any balances due them for taxes returned, has not been fully carried out. An apportionment of cash funds received from sale of stocks has been made to the several counties, pro rata, with the exception of the county of St. Clair, which county has received nearly the whole amount due it, by the receipt of its portion of cash funds, and a sale of state bonds to the bank of St. Clair, to the amount of $11,000, upon condition that the latter should apply in payment of dues to that county alone, and to which amount that bank becomes responsible to the county for, under an amicable arrangement with its treasurer.

The amount due to the several counties on account delinquent taxes may be liquidated by applying the balances to the payment, in part, of state taxes for the year 1839, which will leave in the hands of the county treasurers the amount of those balances in cash funds collected by them, to be applied to the internal uses of the counties. A resolution of the legislature will be necessary to authorize this transfer or credit to be made—as by the revised law, the county treasurers are required to pay over cash funds collected on account of state taxes within a given time, and the auditor general to draw warrants on the state treasury for any balances due the counties for delinquent taxes. In consequence of the want of funds to meet the warrants, it has been deemed advisable to postpone drawing the warrants for the whole amount due the counties, until legislative action could be had upon this subject. The necessary legislation will be required to obviate the difficulty of meeting the balances due the counties by reason of not being able to dispose of state stocks, so that the accounts with the several counties may be closed yearly, and confusion avoided. As the system of return of delinquent taxes upon lands to this office has greatly increased the duties of the auditor, necessary provisions should be made for the employment of such number of clerks as the prompt performance of the duties may require, attendant upon this system, which may be done by authorizing the auditor to employ, from time to time, a sufficient number of clerks, and to pay their salaries, as well as any other contingent charges attending the system, from the “delinquent tax fund.” In that way he may be able to perform the duties required by the system, in a timely manner, and without extra charge upon the treasury.

By proper provisions being made for performing the labor incident to the return of lands delinquent for taxes to this office, the system may be said to be one which will meet with general favor, as well with resident as non-resident land holders, and, it is believed, will be attended with less inconvenience and increased regularity in the returns themselves, than under the old system of returning to the county treasurer. And here it may be proper to add, that any material change in return of lands delinquent for taxes, would throw the whole system, as at present organized, into interminable confusion. The incidental charges attending the system, should properly, as it was no doubt intended they should, form a charge upon the tracts returned, and a sufficient sum should be taxed as charges, to defray all the needful expenses. The amount of charges, however, upon each tract should be defined by the legislature.

Appended, is the account current with the “delinquent tax fund,” showing the amount received and paid ; balance on hand $15,255 91, applicable to the payment of interest on stock issued on account of delinquent taxes, and ultimate redemption of the principal.

Previous to the distribution of the above mentioned law in relation to taxes, the 11th section of which requires that the delinquent road taxes for the year 1838, shall be included in the assessment of 1839, in the same manner the state and county tax are assessed, a few county treasurers had returned to this office the road taxes for the year 1838, and inadvertently they had been copied upon the books of this office and treated as other taxes were—besides payments of those taxes had in some instances been made by those interested, so that a return of them to the counties from whence received, would have been attended with much confusion. Under the circumstances, it was deemed most advisable to retain them in the office, and ask of the legislature the passage of an act legalizing the transaction. In other words, an act authorizing the collection of those taxes in the same manner as if they had been returned as contemplated by the above act.

State stocks, and yearly interest on the same.—State Stock.

Up to July 15th last, inclusive, stocks have been issued by this state to the amount of $5,611,000, the interest upon which now forms a yearly charge upon the treasury of $337,170. A detail statement of which is herewith submitted.

Interest on Stocks.

The future prompt payment of interest upon the several stocks issued by this state, is a subject that may be deemed of paramount importance, and one that will require special legislative action at the coming (present) session, that the faith of the state may be preserved inviolate. Up to this time, the interest upon all the stocks issued has been promptly paid by the state, and its credit, thus far, maintained; but from the present state of our finances, it may be questioned whether, without some additional means accruing at the regular required periods, and which are based upon resources unquestionable, the state can continue to meet her interest. This is a subject, which, from its importance, commends itself to the early and special action of the legislature. The extended system of internal improvement, projected in this state, as contemplated by the acts of the former legislatures, precludes the idea that the funds accruing to the state from the Morris canal and United States bank, are adequate to their completion; and even if completed, much doubt exists, whether the net revenue to be derived from them would furnish a sufficient sum to pay the interest upon their cost. With this view, it may properly form a subject of inquiry, how the yearly payments of interest, and the ultimate redemption of the stocks issued for the purposes of internal improvements, are to be met, without a resort to direct taxation. The present and prospective state of the money marts, at home and abroad, for a long time to come, present an unfavorable aspect for the future sale of stocks to the extent the completion of our works, as projected, will require; so that no additional means can safely be calculated upon from that source, with which to complete the works. Assuming the ground, then, that the state is limited to its present accruing means to prosecute the works with, the expenditures of those means in order to prevent a resort to direct taxation, should be confined to those objects alone that will surely yield an income. The works themselves failing to yield a sufficient sum to pay the interest upon the stocks issued, a resort to direct taxation is inevitable.

Annexed is a statement of the net receipts upon the central railroad, up to the 30th of November, which shows the amount that may be calculated upon, applicable to payment of interest. Under the present system of taxation and return of delinquent taxes to this office, the shortest period of time taxes can be made available, by forcing a sale of non-resident lands, is three years and four months, so that an immediate resort to taxation, commencing with the year 1840, will not render the taxes available before June 1, 1844, before which time the payments accruing upon our loan will all have fallen due, and if paid, will, no doubt, have been expended.

The subject of negotiating for the immediate payment of the balance due the state on the 1st of January next, by a surrender of its bonds by the United States bank, (if such a measure is practicable,) having been suggested, it may be desirable to know what position the state would, by such a measure, occupy, so far as regards the payment of its interest debt. With that view, I have appended a statement of the amount which will have been received on the 1st day of January next, from the five million loan, and the yearly interest accruing and probable means of meeting it.

Sinking Fund.

Annexed is a statement of account with the sinking fund, to the credit of which the net receipts of our public works are carried, as well as the interest accruing on the several payments due on the five million loan, and to which account all charges of interest heretofore made on the same, are made. The result shows a large sum due from that fund to the internal improvement fund.

Internal Improvement Fund.

I herewith submit a statement of account with the internal improvement fund and the amount of outstanding warrants. A misapprehension on the part of the officers of the state in regard to the practical operation of the subsequent contract of governor Mason with the Morris canal and banking company, as to the payment of interest on the state loan of five millions, by the terms of which the state is held liable for the half yearly payment of interest on the whole loan, unexpectedly caused a diminution of available means for the prosecution of the public works, by the extra amount of interest required to be paid.

At the request of governor Mason, I visited New York for the purpose of adjusting this difficulty, but found by inquiry, that the state was, so far as regarded the payment of interest due on the 1st of July, to the then holders of the bonds, liable, and the payment then to be made, by the Morris canal and United States bank to the state, I was given to understand, would be, only upon an assurance upon my part, as agent of the state, that provision should be made out of the funds at my command, for the payment of the interest upon the whole loan. My predecessor having acted, in drawing for funds accruing on the 1st of July, upon the supposition that the interest upon the amount of capital actually received by the state only, was then due—left me short of ready means with which to make the payment of $150,000 in the sum of $102,110 69. Feeling a strong desire to preserve the faith of the state inviolate, without reference to the right of the Morris canal and banking company to claim interest upon the whole sum, but with the sole reference to the rights of the then holders of the bonds, I was obliged, at much considerable extra expense to the state, to go into the money market and purchase available cash funds to supply the deficiency then existing. The sinking fund account will show the details of that transaction.

By reference to the subsequent contract, a copy of which is herewith submitted, and also a schedule of the payments falling due to the state, it will be seen that the state is credited with the interest accruing on the several payments, (commencing with the 1st day of January, 1839, and ending on the 1st day of January, 1843,) up to the date of the maturity of each payment—and the difference of interest between the amount actually paid, and to be paid, up to the expiration of those payments, and that received of the Morris canal and United States bank, upon the instalments as they respectively fall due, form the precise sum the state should pay, provided she made the payments of interest as fast as the capital was received.

The justice, then, toward the state, by the present mode of paying interest, is caused by its being obliged for a series of payments to be in advance of interest, but which advances accrue to the state by the subsequent payments of interest, less the amount of interest upon the sums advanced by the state. I annex a statement illustrating my views of this matter.

State Prison accounts.

Appended are the several accounts and statements required to be rendered to this office by the several officers in charge of that department, as follows:

Account of cash disbursements, marked No. 1.

Inventory, marked No. 2.

Outstanding accounts in favor of, and against the state, marked No. 3.

Agent's report, marked No. 4.

Commissioner's, or disbursing agent's report, marked No. 5.

Also, the account of this department with J. H. Titus, commissioner, for funds received on account of the state loan of $40,000, and the disbursement by him, allowed by the auditor general and carried to his credit, showing a balance against the commissioner of $1,603 33.

A contract of sale was entered into by his excellency governor Mason, with Messrs. William Ford & Sons, for the bonds authorized to be issued for the purpose of constructing the prison, and their bond, with approved security for the faithful performance, on their part, in making payments, was taken and filed with the treasurer. I regret, however, to say that that firm have failed on their part in making the monthly payments, as stipulated in the bond, (they having paid only $12,572 48, up to this date.) In consequence of this default, it was deemed advisable to place the bond in the hands of the attorney general for collection.

I would respectfully suggest in all future disbursements by the agent of the state prison, the propriety of his being required by law, to take duplicate vouchers for all disbursements made, one set of which he shall retain in his office, and the other transmit to this department with his annual account current. To a want of a proper system of keeping the accounts at the prison, and of taking proper vouchers for the disbursements, may be attributed the confusion in which the former agent's accounts were found, and the measure herein proposed is intended, in part, to obviate future difficulty. The general law of the last session, relating to this department, is defective in many particulars; it was no doubt intended that the payment of expenses for transporting prisoners to the prison by the sheriffs, as well as the expenses for clothing and victualling them, should be borne by the state. Sufficient authority has not, however, been given by that law to authorize the auditor general to draw on the treasury for those expenses, as well as for several others of minor importance. A thorough revision of it is, therefore, respectfully recommended, that the present ambiguity, and want of authority in the law itself, may be removed.

Wants of this Department.

The increased and increasing labor required to perform the numerous duties of this office, absolutely requires additional aid. The general supervision of the various duties required of, and the labor attendant upon their performance by the auditor general, will demand the aid of at least three clerks—one, whose special duty shall relate to the writing required in the various accounts with the state treasurer and other state officers, and two others to attend to keeping the accounts with delinquent taxes, and meeting demands upon their time, by persons applying to make payment of taxes. I would, therefore, respectfully recommend the passage of a law to meet this contingency—the appropriations for the payment of whose services should properly be made for one, payable out of the general fund, and the other two out of the delinquent tax fund. I would also respectfully propose, that in future the auditor general should be required to open a set of books, and keep accounts with the various appropriations made by the legislature, wherein credit shall be given to the various persons or objects appropriated to or for, and charges from time to time made against the same, as warrants are drawn—a system that, heretofore, has not been adopted in this office, and the want of which has, in one instance, been the means of over-payment to a state officer of a quarter's salary, and in one or two other instances to small amounts to other individuals. At present, in order to determine whether an appropriation to any person, or on account of any specific object, has been paid, or exhausted, or not, searches have to be made through the books, embracing perhaps a year's business, and when so made may be attended perhaps with doubt as to the result.

The adoption of the system proposed would also enable the auditor general more readily and at short notice, to answer the inquiries of the legislature or executive, and would be the means of embodying information in regard to the expenditures upon various objects, that would be found useful for future reference. The additional yearly expense of adopting the system will be but trifling, and when compared with the end attained, is unimportant.

All of which is very respectfully submitted.

HENRY HOWARD,
Auditor General.

Henry Howard, Treasurer, in account current with the

H. HOWARD,
Auditor General.

Prison Department.

When the agency of the prison came into my hands on the 24th June last, the board of inspectors had entered into contract for boarding the convicts for three months ending the 24th day of August, at the rate of thirty cents per head, per day; after the expiration thereof, a similar one was made with the consent of the board of inspectors. to end on the 24th day of November; at the expiration of which, it is anticipated that a contract may be made at the rate of twenty cents per ration, to terminate on the 24th day of February next.

The discipline, under the present efficient and capable board of inspectors, aided by the vigilant deputy keeper, Mr. D. B. Wilcox, has resulted in keeping order and subordination, and profitable manual labor, requiring the infliction of but little corporeal punishment.

The moral instruction of the prison has consisted in furnishing to each of the convicts who could read, a copy of the testament, together with the divine lectures once in each week, of the chaplain whose christian fidelity and piety has had its due influence on most of the convicts.

It is with much satisfaction also stated, that several of the convicts who entered the prison unable to read and write, have been taught one or other of those rudiments.

For the number of convicts received, discharged and escaped, reference is respectfully made to the list forwarded to the secretary of state.

The condition of the prison in regard to health and physical abilities, is and has been good through the past warm season, as will be perceived by reference to the inspectors report, showing the quantity of time lost by sickness. In regard thereto, it must be borne in mind that a large portion of the convicts were diseased when entering the prison. Through the prompt attention of the physician of the prison, those convicts who were laboring under diseases at the time of their being received, have been restored to health, while those who have been attacked with fever and ague and other fevers common to the country, have lost but a few days each.

Near the close of the last session of the legislature, a bill passed the house, providing for the payment of rations for the convicts, wages for the guard, &c., but in multiplicity of business it was overlooked in the senate—the result was that funds could not be obtained for that purpose—and it has been difficult with the greatest exertions, to procure necessities to meet the immediate and pressing wants of the prison. Where a credit has been obtained, it has been in all cases on the most favorable terms for the state, and it is hoped, and confidently believed, that at the next meeting of the legislature, provision will be made for the discharge of said accounts.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

(Signed,)

J. H. TITUS, Agent S. P.

Jonas H. Titus, agent, and Joseph Septimus Ward, clerk, of the state prison at Jackson, in the state of Michigan, severally make oath and say that the foregoing statement is correct and true in every respect, to the best of their knowledge and belief.

J. H. TITUS,

JOSEPH SEPTIMUS WARD,

Clerk S. P.

Subscribed and sworn to this 7th day of December, A. D. 1839, before me,

WILLIAM J. MOODY,

Justice of the peace of said county.

Annual report of the Acting Commissioner of the State Prison at Jackson.

To the Auditor General of the State of Michigan:

SIR—In compliance with the requirements of the law for the building, discipline and regulation of the state prison, I submit the following report:

At the time of entering on the duties of the office, June 24th, 1839, the books and accounts of the prison for 1838 were unsettled, and remain so at this date; which makes it indispensable to be more lengthy and minute herein, in order to be more fully understood than would otherwise be necessary.

On the 28th June, 1839, an estimate of the work of the previous year was made, also of the quantity of rough stone and cut stone laid on the principal building and front wall, and of cut stone and bricks laid in the thirty-four cells that had been completed; together with an inventory of the buildings erected on the state land for the use of the prison, the materials and tools on hand, &c., see inventory No. 2.

The amount of forty thousand dollars was appropriated by the legislature for the prosecution of the work during the year 1839, the bonds were to be paid for by the contractors, Messrs. Ford & Son, in monthly instalments of five thousand dollars each, commencing on the 1st day of July, 1839. At the date of this report, of the forty thousand dollars so appropriated and contracted for, there have become due four instalments, amounting to twenty thousand dollars, of which only ten thousand dollars have been paid by the contractors to the treasurer and drawn for and nearly disbursed, as will appear by reference to cash account No. 1.

In the month of September, iron was supplied by Ford & Son, as per contract hereinafter mentioned, amounting to $2,572 48, making, together with the before mentioned two instalments, the total amount received of Ford & Son, $12,572 48, up to the 31st October, 1839. As the season was considerably advanced, it was deemed most advisable to apply our exertions to the west wing of the principal building, and if possible, to enclose about two hundred feet thereof and erect a temporary end thereon, which would enable us to use the cells already finished, and construct others during the winter, but as only a small portion of the iron necessary for the widow grates and other works was on hand, a contract was entered into with William Ford & Son, on the 25th day of July, for about thirty tons of iron to be delivered in Detroit within twenty-three days from the date of the contract, free from all charges, at the rate of $93 per ton; the said contract was not fulfilled by the time agreed on, and several weeks elapsed, before any of the iron could be obtained. This and other causes combined, have so much retarded the works, that at this time it is very doubtful whether any part of the said wing can be roofed this winter.

Several contracts had been entered into between the commissioner of 1838, and individuals, for the performance of almost all the work necessary to be performed this year, most of which contracts will terminate at the close of 1839, all of which were assumed; although in some instances the price paid may have been considered high, still the same were made in good faith, and to reject them would probably have incurred litigation, and have caused damage to the state rather than a saving. Other contracts have been entered into, which at the time they were made, it was supposed would be completed the present year.

No alteration in the plan of the prison, as adopted and commenced, has been made, while some of the designs of the former commissioner have been varied; one of which was to erect the entire front wall of the principal building of cut stone; but in pursuance of the recommendation of a committee appointed by the last legislature, the said wall has been built from the water table of hammer drest range work, the window jambs cut austic; the whole a saving of several thousand dollars expense, and yet composing a stronger wall than could have been constructed of cut stone. This, with the alteration in the number of windows, are all that it was thought necessary to make.

No time has been lost by the contractors in executing their respective engagements as far as practicable, and much credit is due to them for the superior mechanical skill manifested by them in their several departments, which has resulted in the construction of a strong and permanent building.

Some fears have been entertained of the stability of the building materials. These are conceived to be altogether groundless. Bricks of the first quality are made within three quarters of a mile of the state prison, and the stone is a white sand, which when first raised from the quarry, is soft, and will break or cut easily, but which after a few days exposure to the air, will become harder and continue to harden, and in a few weeks be sufficiently strong and durable for any building whatever.

As nearly as may be estimated, twenty thousand dollars would have been sufficient to purchase the materials and pay the labor necessary to erect and complete the two hundred feet of building as before mentioned, allowing nineteen thousand dollars for such purpose, and one thousand dollars for contingent expenses; so that the building has doubtless been delayed by the non-performance of the loan contractors.

Two contracts were made by the former commissioner, while in office, with Z. Platt, to furnish stone and lumber. At this time there is a balance of about $1,200 due upon the former, and it is stated there was the sum of $1,500 paid him by the late commissioner in advance, on the lumber contract. On the said latter contract, Z. Platt has not supplied any of the lumber, thus leaving a balance due the state of about $300. It is also stated there was the sum of $300 paid by said former commissioner on the said stone contract; but such facts cannot be clearly ascertained, as access was not had to the late commissioner's books.

There had been three dwelling houses erected last season on land belonging to the state, as per inventory No. 2. The one first mentioned in said inventory has not yet been taken possession of by the state, but remains in the hands of the builder. The one secondly mentioned in said inventory, was designed for the use of the keeper until the one should be built in connection with the prison, but it was thought most advantageous to rent the same as a boarding house for the guards and laborers on the works, and the same was accordingly let at the rate of $150 per annum.

The house thirdly mentioned, has been let to the deputy keeper at the rate of fifty dollars per annum.

It is not deemed incumbent to state the amount supposed to be necessary to prosecute the works for the ensuing year, nor the alterations in former designs conceived most beneficial to the state, but should the same be called for, either by committee or resolution, they will be cheerfully furnished.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Treasurer's Report.

STATE TREASURER'S OFFICE, }
Detroit, December 1, 1839. }

To the Honorable the Legislature of the State of Michigan:

In compliance with the law requiring the treasurer to make an annual report, and also agreeably to the act, approved April 16, 1839, closing the fiscal year on the last day of November, I have the honor to herewith present my report as treasurer, accompanied by a statement of accounts from the 1st day of January to the 30th day of November, 1839, in the following order:

First. An account current with the general fund.

Second. An account current with the internal improvement fund.

Third. An account current with the sinking fund.

Fourth. An account current with the contingent fund.

Fifth. An account current with the delinquent tax fund.

Sixth. An account current with the primary school fund.

Seventh. An account current with the primary school interest fund.

Eighth. An account current with the state penitentiary fund.

Ninth. An account current with the bank fund.

Tenth. A summary statement of accounts, showing the receipts, disbursements and balances from January 1st to November 30th, 1839.

Eleventh. A statement of balance account.

The account with the general fund, exhibits a balance against it of seventeen thousand forty-three dollars and seventy-seven cents; to which add the sum of ten thousand six hundred and eight dollars and eight cents, amount of warrants drawn on that fund by the auditor general previous to November 30th, which remain unpaid, swells the deficiency to the amount of twenty-seven thousand six hundred and fifty-one dollars and eighty-five cents. The interest becoming due on state bonds, on the first day of January next, payable out of this fund to the amount of seven thousand and eight hundred dollars, has been provided for by placing funds in the hands of the Morris canal and banking company to that amount, where the coupons will be presented for payment. Of this sum, six thousand dollars was for the payment of interest on the Detroit and Pontiac railroad and university state stock, which has not yet been refunded to the state. The Detroit and Pontiac railroad company having failed in the payment of the interest which became due on the first Monday of July last, upon the stock loaned to said company by the state, the amount has been paid out of the general fund; and pursuant to the eighth section of the act entitled "An act to provide for the relief of the Detroit and Pontiac railroad company," I have advertised said road and appurtenances for sale at auction, at the treasurer's office, on the second day of March next.

The banks, which by law are required to pay to the treasurer, for the use of the state, one-half of one per cent. on the amount of the capital stock paid in, in semi-annual payments in July and January in each year, have failed in making such payment, due on the third Monday of July last, excepting the bank of St. Clair.

Under the act entitled "An act to establish seats of justice," the commissioners appointed to locate the seat of justice for the county of Midland, have received out of the treasury, for their services, the sum of five hundred and thirty-one dollars, which amount has not been refunded by the proprietors of the land on which such seat of justice has been located.

Including the balance to the credit of the internal improvement fund on the first day of January last, amounting to five hundred and eighty-five thousand nine hundred and eighty-six dollars and sixty-eight cents, the receipts placed to the credit of that fund amount to the sum of one million five hundred and five thousand twenty-six dollars and seventy-seven cents, and the disbursements amount to seven hundred and fifty-two thousand nine hundred and sixty dollars and thirty-two cents, leaving a balance to the credit of that fund, of seven hundred and fifty-two thousand sixty-six dollars and forty-five cents; reference to statement No. 12, will show in what that balance consists.

There has been placed to the credit of the sinking fund during the year, including the balance on hand on the first day of January last, the sum of one hundred and thirty-three thousand four hundred and seventy-three dollars and forty-seven cents; and during the same period there has been charged to that account the sum of four hundred and thirty-five thousand five hundred and ninety-six dollars and seventy cents, showing a balance against that fund of three hundred and two thousand one hundred and twenty-three dollars and twenty-three cents; statement No. 12, shows from what fund that amount was made up.

The contingent fund being placed at the disposal of the governor, the disbursements are made upon his warrant. The amount to the credit of that fund on the first day of January, was one thousand and twenty-two dollars and sixteen cents; that amount being a deposit in the state bank; an appropriation of fifteen hundred dollars was also placed to the credit of this fund. The unexpended balance is thirteen hundred and thirty-four dollars and fifty-seven cents. Statement No. 12, shows what proportion of that balance remains in the state bank, and how much is on deposit in the bank of Michigan.

There is a balance to the credit of the delinquent tax fund, of fifteen thousand one hundred and sixty-eight dollars and twenty-three cents. This fund is created by the payment to the treasurer of delinquent taxes, returned by the several county treasurers to the office of the auditor general, including interest and charges, and was to be applied to the payment of interest accruing on, and to the redemption of state stock to be issued by the treasurer, the proceeds of which was to be paid to each county treasurer to the amount due to such county for unpaid taxes.

The amount of delinquent taxes returned to the auditor general's office, was in round numbers, one hundred thousand dollars. In consequence of the depressed state of the money market, and the depreciated value of stocks generally, sales could only be effected to the amount of thirty-one thousand dollars, which sum has been paid to the several counties. From the failure in the attempt to sell the whole amount of stock required to pay the counties, one of the principal objects of the law is partially defeated—that is, the payment to the counties of the amount due them for delinquent taxes. So soon as that amount is ascertained, as that fund is daily increasing, and no disbursements are to be made from it but the payment of the semi-annual interest on thirty-one thousand dollars, I would respectfully suggest the propriety of amending the law so as to authorize the treasurer, upon the auditor general's warrant, to pay to the several county treasurers the amount which may be to the credit of that fund, either quarterly or semi-annually, in proportion to the amount of delinquent taxes returned by them.

There is a balance to the credit of the primary school fund, of two thousand one hundred and five dollars and twenty-two cents, and to the credit of interest on primary school fund, two thousand six hundred and fifty-one dollars and eighteen cents.

There has been placed to the credit of the state penitentiary fund, the sum of twelve thousand five hundred and seventy-two dollars and forty-eight cents, and the same amount disbursed. Under the act supplementary to "An act authorizing the building of the state penitentiary," the governor negotiated a loan of forty thousand dollars, for which state bonds have been issued, and the bonds of William Ford & Son, with sufficient sureties, received for the same amount, payable in monthly instalments of five thousand dollars each. After paying the amount above mentioned to the credit of the state penitentiary fund, the said William Ford & Son have neglected to pay the remaining instalments as they became due.

I have, in consequence, placed their bond in the hands of the attorney general for collection.

All which is respectfully submitted.

PETER DESNOYERS,
State Treasurer.

Annual Report of the Board of Internal Improvement.

OFFICE OF INTERNAL IMPROVEMENT, }
Detroit, December 20, 1839. }

To the Honorable the Senate and

House of Representatives of the State of Michigan:

GENTLEMEN—I have the honor herewith to transmit to the honorable the legislature, the annual report of the board of commissioners of internal improvement, together with the accompanying documents.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant.

RIX ROBINSON,
President Board Internal Improvement.

To the Honorable the Legislature of the State of Michigan:

The undersigned, commissioners of the board of internal improvement of the state of Michigan, appointed in pursuance of the act entitled "An act for the regulation of internal improvement, and for the appointment of a board of commissioners," approved April 20, 1839, respectfully report:

That the undersigned met at the city of Detroit, on the 24th day of April of the present year, and organized by electing Rix Robinson, president, and appointing Alexander H. Adams secretary and book keeper, with a salary at the rate of one thousand dollars per annum.

The charge of the construction of the southern railroad, Havre branch railroad, and the improvement of the St. Joseph river, were assigned to Levi S. Humphrey.

The charge of the construction and management of the central railroad, and of the construction of the Clinton and Kalamazoo canal, were assigned to William R. Thompson, who, at a subsequent meeting of the board, resigned the charge of the latter work, which was at that time placed under the charge of Mr. Humphrey.

The charge of the construction of the northern railroad, Saginaw canal, Sault de Ste Marie canal, canal to be constructed around the rapids of Grand river, and the improvement of the Grand, Kalamazoo and Maple rivers, were assigned to Rix Robinson.

The board also at said meeting, appointed John M. Berrien chief engineer of the central railroad and the Clinton and Kalamazoo canal; Joseph S. Dutton chief engineer on the southern railroad, Havre branch railroad and the improvement of the St. Joseph river; Tracy McCracken chief engineer on the northern railroad, Saginaw canal, Sault de Ste Marie canal, canal to be constructed around the rapids of Grand river, and the improvement of Grand, Kalamazoo and Maple rivers, each of whom were to be paid the annual salary of fourteen hundred dollars.

The board, by authority of the 14th section of the act above alluded to, also appointed the following persons surveyors, with a salary at the rate of thirteen hundred dollars per annum, viz: A. J. Center, E. Rose, J. Brown and G. W. Morell, on the central railroad; Sanford J. Smith and Nelson McCracken, on the northern railroad; Charles F. Smith on the Saginaw canal; John Almy on the improvement of the Grand, Kalamazoo and Maple rivers; Samuel L. Fuller on the Sault de Ste Marie canal, and P. Sours and C. Anderson on the Clinton and Kalamazoo canal. They also appointed H. V. D. Barker, S. Barna, H. Waldron and T. Frazier assistant engineers on the southern railroad, and Thomas J. Hunt assistant engineer on the Clinton and Kalamazoo canal, each with an annual salary of eight hundred dollars.

A difference of opinion having arisen between the auditor general and the board relative to the duties of surveyors, and the compensation to which they were entitled, the former deciding that under the existing law they could only be entitled to the salary allowed assistant engineers, and declining to allow any accounts charged at a higher rate of compensation; several of those appointed to that station, declining to serve at so low a rate, dismissed themselves from the service of the state.

The following appointments on the central railroad were also made by the board, viz: Amos T. Hall, collector of tolls at Detroit, with an annual salary of one thousand dollars; Thomas Clarke, collector of tolls at Ypsilanti, with a salary at the rate of nine hundred dollars per annum; Charles Hoffman, way collector on passenger cars, at two dollars and fifty cents per day; Benjamin Briscoe, superintendent of machine shop, George Gibson, superintendent of car shop, each with an annual salary of one thousand dollars, and Gideon Paull, weighmaster at Detroit, at six hundred dollars per annum; the other appointments on said road, were made by the commissioner having charge of the same.

In pursuance of the 11th section of the act above mentioned, the board purchased of Mr. Benjamin Briscoe, the right to use his "patent spark arrester" on all the public works of the state during the existence of his patent, for the sum of one thousand dollars. From an experience of more than a year's standing in the use of the same, they feel themselves warranted in bearing testimony to its utility as a perfect preventive of that great annoyance so usually complained of by the travelling public on the railroads of the United States.

By authority of a resolution of the legislature, the late board of commissioners were authorized to continue the track of the central railroad from its termination at the Campus Martius, in the city of Detroit, down Woodward avenue to its intersection with Atwater street. This work has been completed at a sum less than the amount appropriated by the legislature for that purpose; but the undersigned regret to state that since its completion no use has been made of the same, and the apathy manifested by those for whose convenience it was constructed, seems strongly to indicate the fact; that as a public thoroughfare it is perfectly useless.

By a resolution of the legislature, approved April 19, 1839, the board was directed "to change the location of the Southern railroad, between the villages of Centerville and Niles, so as to pass through the village of Lockport or three rivers, and thence on the most eligible route through the county of Cass, at or near Cassopolis, to Niles." Upon this subject the board have had no action, owing in a great degree to the embarrassed situation of the treasury at the time they entered upon the duties of their office, and to the limited number of engineers allowed by the existing law to be employed in the service of the state.

On the receipt of a communication from Jarvis Hurd, late chief engineer on the Clinton and Kalamazoo canal, a copy of which is herewith submitted, (marked A.) the commissioner having charge of that work at that time deemed it advisable to suspend the work on that portion of said canal lying between the villages of Mount Clemens and Frederick, until the next meeting of the board, to consider the propriety of a change of said location. In conformity with the power vested in the board by the 23d section of the act under which they were appointed, the three chief engineers in the employ of the state were called upon to proceed immediately upon the line of said canal, and examine the same with the questions connected with the said change of line, and to report to the board their written opinion as soon as practicable; a copy of the same is herewith submitted, (marked B.) In accordance with said opinion, the line of said canal was changed between the two above named points.

In pursuance of a resolution of the last legislature, the commissioner having charge of the Sault de Ste Marie canal, advanced to the contractors on that work the sum of five thousand dollars, and received from them a bond with satisfactory security for the amount. Since this advance was made, the contractors proceeded upon the line of said canal, professedly for the purpose of commencing the work under their contract; but a difficulty arising between them and the officer stationed at Fort Brady, near the line of their work, they, from this or some unknown cause, have not performed any part of the work under said contract. The correspondence and documents connected with this matter, are herewith submitted, (marked C.)

A large number of claims remain unsettled, for damages occasioned by the killing of cattle, hogs, &c., &c., by the trains running on the central railroad. Under the existing law, these claims (which have originated previous to the passage of said law,) could not be liquidated from the receipts on the road, but were to be paid "out of money belonging to the internal improvement fund;" such, unfortunately, has been the condition of this fund since the passage of that act, that but a small amount of these claims have been paid. The undersigned would respectfully recommend to your honorable body, such a change of said law, that these claims should be paid from the receipts on said road; also to direct the state treasurer to transfer to the credit of the internal improvement fund the amount exhibited in the accompanying statement, as having been paid from the same for the expenses of running said road; and also, would respectfully request authority to place in the hands of the state treasurer, the unavailable funds remaining in the hands of one of their body, which were received for tolls on the central railroad in the early part of the last year, in order that when any thing may be realized from the several receivers of these institutions, the amount may be in a proper situation to be credited to the sinking fund.

Among the appropriations made by the last legislature, was the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, to be expended in the construction of a canal around the rapids of Grand river; by reference to the report of the commissioners having charge of that work, and the report of the engineer accompanying the same, herewith submitted, it will be seen that a survey has been made on both sides of said river, and comparative estimates also of the probable cost of said canal. Owing to the circumstances under which the board have been placed during the past year, they have not felt it their duty to locate the same, or to direct said work to be let to contract.

By a joint resolution of the legislature, approved April 6, 1838, the then existing board of commissioners were authorized to contract for one hundred miles of railroad iron for use upon the several works of the state. In accordance with this authority, the board on the same day appointed L. S. Humphrey, Esq., (being then and still a member of the board,) as agent on the part of the state with full authority to make all the necessary contracts for the purchase and transportation of said iron, and to appoint such agents as he might deem necessary for the proper execution of the same. In pursuance of the above authority, he has entered into the necessary contracts for the iron required, and the transportation of the same. On this contract there has been delivered for the use of the state about 900 tons of the same.

To enable him to carry out the requisitions of these contracts, there was advanced to him by the plate board, the sum of $75,439 12, and by the present board, the sum of $32,959 48, making in all, the sum of $108,398 60.

In order to liquidate the outstanding accounts for balances due on these contracts, it will require the further sum of $80,000 00, for which sum a special appropriation will be required to be made. It may not be improper to state also, that the amount already advanced has been paid from the internal improvement fund without appropriation having been made for that purpose.

The settlement with the contractor on the 3d division of the central railroad, having been referred by the commissioner in charge of that work to the board, they would state that they have effected a partial settlement with him, but they have deemed it advisable to delay the collection of any damages which might accrue to the state by reason of the non-fulfillment of his contract at the time allowed for its completion, by a joint resolution of the last legislature, approved April 19, 1839, from the fact that the road is still in an unfinished condition; and they are, therefore, unable at the present time, to arrive at the amount of damages which are strictly chargeable to this failure, and also that he has stated claims to the board, over which they considered they had no control, but have deemed it advisable to leave the same for the action of the legislature, if such claims should be presented to that body.

OFFICE OF INTERNAL IMPROVEMENT, }
Detroit, December 1, 1839. }

To the Board of Commissioners of Internal Improvement:

GENTLEMEN—The undersigned, to whom was assigned the charge of the construction and management of the central railroad and also the construction of the Clinton and Kalamazoo canal, begs leave to submit the following report:

That he entered upon the duties of his office in April last, at a time when the treasury of the state was in an embarrassed condition, owing to the previous failure of the Michigan state bank, and the uncertain nature of the situation of the public funds for the ensuing year. From these pecuniary embarrassments of the state, I have had many difficulties to encounter, and should have been obliged to have abandoned all hopes of success in carrying forward to completion, any of the works under my charge, but for the generous aid of the officers of the bank of Michigan, who kindly stepped forward and made advances at a time when all other sources had failed. This aid enabled me in a great measure to complete the portions of the work on the central railroad between Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor. In the month of May last I received a communication from Jarvis Hurd, late chief engineer on the Clinton and Kalamazoo canal, relative to the cost of the construction of said work on the then established line between the villages of Mount Clemens and Frederick, and suggesting the adoption of the Clinton river for a canal, with a towing path along its banks, by which a saving could be made to the state, in the adopting of this course, of rising thirty thousand dollars. From these suggestions, in view of the interest of the state, I was impelled to suspend all operations on that portion of the work lying between the above named places until the next meeting of your board, for your deliberation and action upon the subject. The result of this deliberation, as you are aware, was an order for an examination by the principal engineers on the public works; this examination was made, and resulted in a report from them recommending the change suggested by Mr. Hurd in his communication to me. Upon this recommendation you were induced to change the line and manner of constructing said work. Subsequently to this change I found, from the distance which separated the works under my charge, that I was unable to devote that personal attention to this work which was satisfactory to those interested in its construction, or to myself, and I was induced to resign my charge of the same in the month of July last. Annexed you will find a statement of my expenditures on this work.

On taking charge of the central railroad, I found the work on the line principally under contract from Ypsilanti to Jacksonburg, and that considerable progress had already been made. The time for completing some of the heaviest contracts had, however, already expired, and the slow progress being made upon them gave but little reason to expect their completion within any definite time. This was particularly the case on the line between Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor, where the whole work was let in one contract, the time for completing which was limited to the first day of October, 1838.

The amount of money already expended on this division, and the delay which there had already been in its progress, made it doubly desirable that the route to Ann Arbor should be brought into operation as early as possible, and efforts were accordingly made to induce the contractor to increase his force upon the line, and to push on the work without further delay. These efforts were in a great measure unavailing, and I had no other course left but to employ men upon the work, either under new contracts or by the day, as might be most expeditious or advantageous. This course was adopted, and the road, although now not completely finished, was opened to Ann Arbor on the 17th day of October last.

Col. McKinstry the contractor, has applied to me for a final settlement; but, besides that the work is not yet complete, and that under his contract he has no claims for such a settlement at this time, the last legislature, by a joint resolution, approved April 19th, 1839, having directed that in case the road was not finished by the 1st day of June last, the board should, in the final settlement, charge the contractor for all damages that should or might accrue by reason of the non-fulfillment of his contract by that time. I am not aware of any reasons why this settlement should not be made now as well as at any future time, but the action had by the legislature in the matter, appears to me to render it necessary that the settlement should be made by the board, and not by myself, and I must accordingly refer the subject to them for their determination.

It will be seen by the report of the chief engineer, that the work between Ann Arbor and Jacksonburg, notwithstanding the many difficulties attending its prosecution during the season, has been progressing as rapidly as circumstances will admit of, and that independent of the cost of iron, right of way, surveys and engineering, there has been estimated up to the present time, for work done and for materials furnished, the sum of $100,152.47. It will be further seen, that to complete and put this portion of the road in operation, will require the additional expenditure of $800,000 00.

With the expectation that the appropriation for the year would justify the line's being placed under contract as far as Kalamazoo, my predecessor was directed by the former board to cause the locations to be continued to that place. This has been done by the chief engineer, who states that the drawings and calculations were nearly in readiness for commencing the work, but considering them at present as useless, he has not thought it necessary to enter into a description of the route, or estimate of cost. I fully concur with him in his remarks relative to contracts upon the road, and also as to the insufficiency of the provisions made by law for the engineer department.

Under a resolution of your board, I was instructed to erect a car-house in the village of Ann Arbor. This building has been erected, and is, at the present time, nearly completed. I have expended for materials and labor in constructing the same, and levelling the ground in its vicinity, about $6,000. It was also the intention of the board to have erected a building in the vicinity for the accommodation of locomotive engines and shops. This building would seem to be much needed, particularly if the business of the road, or the accommodation of the public, require that a train should be started from that end of the road in the morning. When two trains pass over the road daily, this can be done without additional trouble or expense, and it would add greatly to the traveling facilities of persons residing in the country. In addition to this, I would remark, that the building now occupied for an engine-house in this city, proves to be extremely inconvenient, and is not sufficient for the accommodation of any greater number of engines; than are now in use upon the road, nor is its location thought to be a proper one.

The opening of the road to Jacksonburg will render it necessary to erect a building of the kind at that place, as well as at some intermediate point, which will divide the distance about equally; and for the reason above stated, it would seem to me very desirable that the intentions of the board respecting the buildings at Ann Arbor, should be carried into effect as soon as the means can be obtained for that purpose.

A plan was proposed by the chief engineer for a brick building to be built in circular form, which may in the first place be sufficient only for two or three engines, with the necessary work shops attached, but which can be extended as may become necessary. This plan was approved of, but want of the necessary means has prevented its execution.

By a resolution of your board at its first session, I was directed to receive the unavailable funds which had been received for tolls on the central railroad in the early part of the year 1838, which were in the hands of E. H. Lathrop, late acting commissioner on that work, and to place in the hands of the proper officer, the notes of such institutions for the closing of whose affairs receivers had been appointed. This latter duty I have endeavored to perform. The annexed statement will exhibit the character and quantity left in my hands. I would suggest to the board the propriety of recommending to the legislature, the necessity of placing these funds in the hands of the officer who is entrusted with the charge of the monetary affairs of the state.

The above statement of expenditures includes an item for the repair of the Rouge bridge, which was burned in September last. In order to arrive at a fair estimate of the loss accruing to the state by this occurrence, it must be taken into consideration that besides the necessary amount which will be required to erect a permanent bridge, and the amount already expended to place the same in a condition to pass the trains over, (the present repair being deemed only a temporary one,) is the amount of business which was lost to the road, from the fact that it was found impossible to carry heavy merchandize over the road, and from reports being circulated in our neighboring eastern cities that this road was not in operation, and would not probably be for a length of time to come, which resulted in the fact, that a large proportion of the merchandize and passengers destined for the west, which would undoubtedly have passed over this road, had it have been in a perfect condition, were carried into the interior of the state by other channels of conveyance; and the material increasing the ordinary expenses of the road by requiring teams to be kept in that vicinity for the transportation of freight and passengers around the bridge. These circumstances combined, have been a serious injury to the business of the road, and a probable loss to the state of from five to ten thousand dollars.

In pursuance of a resolution of your board, I have entered into a contract with the post office department for carrying the United States mail on the central railroad, to and from Detroit and Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor, from January 1st, 1840, to June 1, 1843, at the following rates, viz: for the sum of fifty dollars per mile per annum to and from Detroit and Ypsilanti, and twenty-five dollars per mile per annum to and from Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor, in all the sum of seventeen hundred and fifty dollars per annum.

In closing my report, I beg leave to add my testimony to that of my predecessors, to the ability and integrity of the engineer department on the work under my charge, and particularly of the chief engineer, through whose perseverance and industry I have been enabled, under all the embarrassing circumstances in which I have been placed, to push forward a portion of the work under my charge to completion.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WILLIAM R. THOMPSON, Esq.,
Commissioner for the Central Railroad:

SIR—I have the honor to submit the following statement and remarks in relation to the work on the line of the central railroad, for the information of the board of commissioners.

When the present board was organized, this road was already under contract from Ypsilanti to Jacksonburg. From Ypsilanti to Ann Arbor, a distance of between eight and nine miles, the entire work was let in one contract, the time for completing which expired on the first of October, 1838. From Ann Arbor to Jacksonburg, forty miles, the grading was under contract to be completed on the first of January last. The principal bridges were under contract, as was also most of the timber for the superstructure, and the work on the entire distance was in a considerable state of forwardness, although the time for completing many of the contracts had already expired.

The advanced state of the work between Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor, and the amount of money already expended there, rendered it very desirable that this portion of the road should be completed and brought into operation at as early a day as possible, and accordingly every effort was made to urge it on to completion, but the tardiness of the contractor left but little hope that this important object could be effected within a reasonable time, if the work was continued in his hands. To obviate this difficulty, and to secure the opening of the road to Ann Arbor this season, it became necessary to increase very much the force of workmen upon the line, and to employ them under new contracts, or by the day, as might be most expeditious or most to the advantage of the work. This course was adopted, although the original contract was not declared forfeited, and notwithstanding the very serious embarrassment under which we have labored during the season, we had on the 17th of October last, the satisfaction of seeing this road opened for the use of the public.

It is not, however, completed, although nothing remains which will interrupt its use, and it is in such condition as to be secure from damage during the winter and spring.

West of Ann Arbor the work has been and is now gradually progressing, and the estimates for work done and materials furnished up to the present time, amount to the sum of one hundred thousand one hundred and fifty-two dollars and forty-seven cents. For the whole expenditure there must be added to this sum, the amount paid for damages, right of way, surveys, engineering, fencing, &c., which I am unable to give. The sum above stated is also independent of iron, for which a special appropriation was made, and which has, as I am informed, been purchased and paid for.

The whole amount of excavation and embankment on the 4th, 5th and 6th divisions, (from Ann Arbor to Jacksonburg) according to the original calculations, was 782,253 cubic yards; of which there is completed 466,996 cubic yards; leaving 315,257 cubic yards yet to be done. The number of yards here stated, does not include the extra earth required in consequence of the sinking of marshes, the amount of which can only be ascertained as the work progresses. A great portion of the expense from this cause has already been incurred, and taking into the account what has been paid for grubbing and clearing, bridges and culverts, the preparation of road surface may be estimated as one-half completed. As near as can now be ascertained, to complete and put the road in operation to Jacksonburg, including depots and stations, will require the additional expenditure of about three hundred thousand dollars.

Between Ann Arbor and Dexter, ten and a half miles, the work is much further advanced than on the remainder of the route, and there is much reason to hope, that should the means be provided by the next legislature, this portion of the road may be in readiness for the trains, some time during the next fall.

It is a matter much to be regretted, that this work should already have been so much delayed as to prevent its completion beyond Dexter the next year, particularly as I conceive the full advantages and capabilities of the road cannot be realized, until it is brought into operation, at least as far as Jacksonburg. The expense of transportation on an increased length of road would bear but a small proportion to that already incurred, and of course the profits would be more than proportionally increased; in addition to which, this extent of road would prevent competition, and secure a still greater amount of business than has yet been done, or can be expected on the portion now in operation.

The interest of the money already expended, added to the damage which the work must sustain, by laying over in an unfinished state during the coming year, could not be estimated at less than from fifteen to twenty thousand dollars, and this fact, added to what I have above stated, will show the great necessity for prosecuting to completion the work already commenced, at as early a day as possible, even should the legislature decide to carry the road no further.

During the last winter and spring, our locations were continued from Jacksonburg to Kalamazoo, a distance of sixty-seven miles. The maps and profiles, and most of the calculations, were made preparatory to putting the line under contract. Under existing circumstances, however, it appears to me unnecessary that I should enter into a description of the route, or furnish any estimates of cost. Before the work can be commenced, it is probable the line traced upon the ground will be destroyed; and it is much to be regretted that a location made with great care, at a most inclement season, and upon which much labor and money have been expended, should be thrown away.

The maps and profiles are carefully preserved, and will be useful at any future time.

The law of the last legislature, by which the number of engineers to be employed on our public works was limited, and their salaries reduced, caused a general resignation on the part of the assistants, and the efforts of the board to keep them in the service proved ineffectual. This result destroyed the organization of the engineer department, and was likely to have proved highly injurious to the interests of the state. The principal engineers, with increased responsibilities, and deprived of the means and assistance requisite to a proper discharge of the trust reposed in them, could not reasonably have been expected to acquit themselves with credit to their profession, or with profit to the state. 'Tis true, indeed, that the unexpected exhaustion of the internal improvement funds, has in a great measure prevented the evil, so much to be apprehended from this cause, by soon rendering the services of assistant engineers upon our road unnecessary; and by taking under my immediate charge the work between Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor, and continuing the levelers and rodmen on the western divisions, where but little work was being done, our operations have progressed during the season, with as much vigor as existing circumstances would admit.

I however believe that competent persons cannot be obtained for assistants, for the compensation as now fixed by law, and as it would be but poor economy indeed to employ any others, I cannot but indulge the hope, that if our public works are to be continued, this subject will receive the revision of the legislature, and some more liberal provision be made.

I am satisfied—and it appears to me not improper that I should advert to the subject in this report—that much of the difficulty met with in the prosecution of our contracts, has arisen from the manner in which these contracts have been let. It is not for the interest of the state to let work at less than its real value, nor is it proper that any individual should be allowed to contract for more than he can personally superintend.

In the first case, the contractor finding himself a loser, will certainly abandon his work, which, in five cases out of six, cannot be re-let at even a fair price; or, to enable him to continue, it becomes necessary to make extra allowances, for it may be laid down as a principle, that the state never can secure its completion for less than its real value. Granting allowances over and above contract prices, places a heavy responsibility upon the engineer, which I am myself particularly anxious to avoid, while the necessity for such allowances is in itself an evil of no small magnitude, for it never fails to embarrass and retard the progress of the work, and generally in the end, adds to its cost beyond what might have been sufficient.

This necessity may in a great measure be avoided by never contracting for work below its known value.

When a greater quantity of work is given to one contractor than he can superintend in person and complete within a given time, he must either overrun this time or he must sub-contract a portion of it; and many persons have bid for and received work upon the road who had no other object in view than to sub-let the whole, or a portion, to any persons who would allow them a sufficient per centage out of their estimates, and in this way to realize a profit out of the laborer without risking a loss and without rendering any corresponding service. This appears to me to be wrong in principle, and to allow it is in fact to create an additional and unnecessary agent between the state and the laboring man, and to pay him for services which properly belong to the agents of the state, and which can only be properly performed by them.

When contracts are let in such manner as to make additional allowances necessary, or when contractors are allowed to sub-let their work, it becomes an object of speculation. Men will bid at any price, no matter how insufficient, in order to obtain a great quantity of work, trusting to sub-contracting or obtaining additional allowances; or, failing in these, will assuredly abandon their jobs; and it cannot be denied that such a course has had a most injurious effect upon the central railroad.

The line between Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor might have been in operation at a much earlier day, and yielding a revenue to the state, besides saving the interest of the money already expended; and the work west of Ann Arbor, notwithstanding all other difficulties, might at this time have been so far advanced as to have allowed its completion to Jacksonburg during the next season. Besides this, about $100,000 of appropriation in the Michigan state bank, and now unavailable, would have been saved to the road, had our contracts been faithfully fulfilled.

The existing law requires that security shall be taken for the performance of all contracts. In addition to this, it is customary to deduct fifteen per cent. from the monthly payments, which sums are retained till the completion of the work, and are then paid to the contractor. This deduction is the best security, and is sufficient in itself. That required by law appears to be unnecessary, and has in some cases I think, had a bad effect, by inducing the agents of the state to rely upon it, when in fact the prospect in case of failure, of obtaining any thing in the shape of damages from individuals, is but very remote indeed, even if the policy of the state attempting such a course were undoubted.

So much unnecessary delay and expense in the prosecution of the work, and so much trouble of various kinds in the management of its affairs, have grown out of the manner in which some of our contracts have been let, that I feel it to be my duty to represent the matter to the board and to ask for it their serious consideration.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

By your humble servant,

JOHN M. BERRIEN, Chief Engineer.

Report of RIX ROBINSON, Commissioner in charge of Northern Railroad, Saginaw Canal, Sault Ste Marie Canal, canal to be constructed around the rapids of Grand River, and the improvement of Grand, Kalamazoo and Maple Rivers.

To the Honorable the Board of Commissioners of Internal Improvement of the State of Michigan:

GENTLEMEN.—In compliance with a resolution adopted by your honorable body, on the 18th day of September last, I have the honor to submit the following report:

At a session of the board of commissioners held at the office of internal improvement in Detroit, in May last, by a resolution then passed, the following works were placed under my charge and supervision, as commissioner, to wit: the Sault de Ste Marie canal, the northern railroad, the Saginaw canal, the improvement of Grand, Maple and Kalamazoo rivers, and the canal to be constructed around the rapids of Grand river.

On the seventh day of July, eighteen hundred and thirty-eight, (this work having previously been placed under my supervision by the late board of commissioners,) a contract was entered into by me with Messrs. George S. Porter and R. Saunders, for a certain amount of labor in the improvement of said river, from the village of Allegan to the termination of the same at Lake Michigan. Agreeable to the tenor of said contract, this work should have been completed during the last season, to wit: on the first day of November, 1838. Owing, however, to sickness in that section of the country, and other embarrassments, a portion of the work only was done during the limitation of said contract. Early last spring, Mr. Porter, one of the contractors, expressed a strong desire to go on and finish the work under said contract, and as the work, so far as it had progressed the summer previous, had been done to my entire satisfaction, I gave him permission to do so.

In the month of June, thereafter, I received notice from Mr. Porter that he had completed the work called for under the contract. I immediately proceeded personally to examine the work done by him on said river, and found a considerable portion of the labor, as stipulated in said contract, had not been performed. There being a scarcity of funds at the time to pay off the estimates of contractors as they became due, and the work not having been performed to my satisfaction by Mr. Porter, under the last arrangement, I effected a final settlement with him, and discharged him from the further prosecution of the same. Since that time no further operations have been carried on in the improvement of that river.

The operations in the improvement of this river have been moderately progressing during the season. Mr. D. S. Baldwin, one of the contractors of last year, for labor in the improvement of the river between the village of Lyons and the mouth of Flat river, a distance of about twenty-five miles, has continued his labors through the summer of the present year; and the season having been favorable, he has succeeded in removing a large amount of sunken trees, snags, flood-wood, and also a quantity of loose rock from the bed of the river. Other parties have been employed a part of the season, in driving sheet piles and constructing wing dams, &c., in order to contract the water into a narrower channel in shoal places. By the above named operations, it is presumed the navigation of the river will be highly benefitted.

On the 20th day of April, 1839, the legislature made an appropriation of $25,000 for the construction of a canal around or past the Rapids of Grand river. The chief engineer, Tracy McCracken, Esq., agreeable to instructions from me, proceeded to make a survey and estimate of the probable cost of the work on each side of said river. His report on the same is herewith submitted.

Maple River.

No contracts have been entered into for the improvement of this river, nor has any labor been performed on the same.

Saginaw Canal.

But little labor has been done on the Saginaw canal since the organization of the present board of commissioners.

Early in the season, Norman Little, Esq., the principal contractor on this work, expressed to me his incapacity to proceed with the work in case the state should fail to pay his estimate for labor monthly, and punctually, agreeable to the tenor of his contract. There being no possible means for me to obtain sufficient funds for that purpose, the work has accordingly been abandoned by him.

Northern Railroad.

A considerable amount of labor has been done on this work during the past season. Several of the contractors have completed their contracts, while others have abandoned theirs. A large proportion of the labor done has been applied in the clearing and grubbing of the line of the road between the villages of Flint, in Genesee county, and Lyons, on Grand river.

Sault de Ste Marie Ship Canal.

By a joint resolution of the legislature, approved on the 19th day of April, 1839, the commissioners having charge of said work, was directed to advance to the contractors on the same, a sum not exceeding $5,000. In accordance with said resolution, on the 26th day of the same month, I made such advance to one of said contractors, taking bonds and sureties for the same, approved of by your board.

On this work nothing has been done by the contractors, although the time limited by the contract in which the same should have been completed, has expired. It will be recollected that early in the summer or spring of the present year, a difficulty arose between the contractors and some of the officers at Fort Brady, concerning the construction of said canal. Sundry written documents passed between the parties, copies of which were submitted by me to the board at their first meeting thereafter; and although immediate measures were taken effectually removing all difficulties and objections on the part of the United States, and immediate notice of the same given, both in the public prints and by private letters by me to the contractors, yet, I regret that I am compelled to say, that no disposition appears to have been manifested on the part of the contractors, to proceed with the work since that time; and an extra expense of keeping an engineer at that place during the summer, has occurred, under the expectation that the contractors would commence their operations.

Owing to the embarrassed condition of the internal improvement fund, I have felt it imperative on me not to enter into any new contracts for work on any of the public works placed under my charge, but on the contrary, my utmost endeavor has been to meet and pay the estimates for labor done under former contracts as promptly as possible. In this, I humbly trust I have succeeded, so far as the funds with which I have been provided would admit. There is, however, a considerable amount due contractors on some of the works.

I have also been governed by a rigid adherence to economy in the engineer department, although the long extended line of the works placed under my charge has made it unavoidably necessary to employ a greater number of engineers than would have been required, had the labor been confined within a shorter distance; yet, whenever a supernumerary has occurred in that department, either in consequence of the completion or abandoning of their contracts by the contractors, the engineers have resigned or been discharged.

The works have not progressed with that rapidity I could have wished, but considering the embarrassed circumstances under which they have been carried on during the past season, as much has been done as the most sanguine ought to have anticipated.

For a more minute detail of the progress of the works and the present condition of the same, I beg leave to refer you to the report of Tracy McCracken, Esq., chief engineer on said works, which I have the honor herewith to submit.

Before closing the report, I feel bound to acknowledge the services of the engineer department, and particularly those of the principal engineer, through whose perseverance, ability and integrity, the works under his charge have been forwarded with a commendable energy.

Commissioner.

Detroit, November 30, 1839.

Report of TRACY McCRAKEN, Chief Engineer on the Northern Railroad, Saginaw Canal, and other works under the charge of Rix Robinson, Commissioner.

To the Hon. RIX ROBINSON, President of the Board of Internal Improvement:

SIR—I have the honor to report upon the several public works under my supervision as engineer, in compliance with the following order of the board of internal improvement:

Resolved, That the several chief engineers in charge of the public works of this state, be directed to report to the commissioners having charge of the same, the progress and condition of the several works under their charge up to the first day of November proximo.

Northern Railroad.

The line of this road was located and placed under contract for clearing and grubbing, and a portion of it for grading, previous to the first day of January, 1839; consequently no further surveys were requisite other than those necessary in the general superintendence of the work. During the present year no new contracts have been let, but some transfers of those made previous had been recognized by the acting commissioner, prior to the organization of the present board of internal improvement.

The clearing and grubbing of about one hundred and ten, out of the one hundred and thirty miles of line let to contract for that purpose, have been completed; but in most cases an extension of time has been required by the contractor for the completion of his work. It appears by referring to the book of estimates, that about two-thirds of the work contracted for between Port Huron and Lapeer has been done, and that estimates to the amount of $7,288 75, minus 15 per cent., have been furnished the contractors upon this section of the road.

Some of these estimates have not been paid, but these, it will be noticed, are dated after the time specified in the contract for the completion of the work had expired. In accordance with your instruction, due notice has been given to the contractors, that all extra expense incurred by the state in consequence of an extension of time for the completion of the work required by the contracts, would be deducted from the percentage which had been retained as security. It may not be improper here, for me to state, that it is probable that many of the contracts upon this road were let to those who considered that they were to be benefitted by its speedy completion, and in consequence bid so low that they have lost money in the prosecution of the works assigned them.

The line from Lapeer to Lyons, with the exception of about three miles near Corrunna, has been cleared and grubbed. The grading which was put under contract, was commenced in the month of January, and prosecuted till some time in the month of July, following. The contractors then stated that unless they were paid punctually they could not proceed further with their work. I then informed them, in accordance with my instructions, that if they continued the work, their estimates would as usual be made monthly, but that it was probable that they would only be paid in treasury orders, which would be payable out of any moneys received into the treasury to the credit of the internal improvement fund. The contracts for grading were abandoned immediately, while those for the clearing and grubbing, which were not then finished, have since been completed.

The work required in the graduation of the road bed, and in the construction of bridges and abutments upon the section immediately west of Flint, exceed that upon any other section of the route, and is now so far advanced, (being two-thirds done,) that it could be completed at as early a day as that upon the more favorable portions of the line. Several thousand feet of timber for bridges and culverts, in addition to that already in the structures erected, have been cut and hewed in the woods, but have not yet been drawn on to the line of road, and in consequence have not been estimated.

The excavation at the deep-cut through the bluff at Stoney creek, near Lyons, has proved much harder than was anticipated. A great part of that which has been excavated has been estimated by the resident engineer, as hard pan; there has not, however, been a very large amount of work done upon this section, the contractor having been engaged in the erection of shanties, and in making other preparations for the prosecution of a large contract, which he has since abandoned, in consequence of not receiving payment for his estimates.

The grading upon this division of the road would in all probability have been much further advanced, had it been let in smaller contracts; and it may be remarked, that the policy of letting to the lowest bidder so large an amount of work as has been done, in more than one instance on this road, is very questionable, even should the security given by the contractor, (in a pecuniary point of view,) be deemed amply sufficient; since this could not be expected to protect the state against the delay which would ensue in the event of the work being abandoned.

Final estimates, including the per centage which had been retained, have been given to the contractors so far as their contracts were finished, and in pursuance to a resolution of the board of commissioners, and with your instructions, to all of those who were unable to proceed with their work in consequence of not receiving pay monthly in accordance with a stipulation to that effect in the contract. The estimate for work done by contract upon this road up to the first day of November, amount to the sum of $38,181 17, which is exclusive of the per centage which has been retained upon the contracts between Port Huron and Lapeer.

Saginaw Canal.

The same cause which has operated in producing a suspension of the work upon the northern railroad, has had a similar effect upon this work. About five miles of the line were under contract for clearing, grubbing, excavating and the constructing of locks, &c., pertaining to a final completion of this portion of the canal.

It was not to be expected that the contractor for this work, which from its position is one most difficult to execute, would be able or willing to prosecute it without prompt payment on the part of the state, which failing to meet its engagement in the payment of the monthly estimates, was averred by the contractor as the cause of the work being abandoned. This occurred sometime in the month of July last; since then, nothing has been done towards the construction of the work.

The resident engineer upon the canal says, in a letter dated July 10, that in making the estimates for the work done upon the Saginaw and Grand river canal, he has proceeded on the supposition that there would be a partial, if not final suspension of operations upon the work; and therefore, he has made the measurements the same as final, and so submitted them in the estimate, and that he has included the additional expense incurred by the contractor in consequence of the line and plan of the work being changed after the contract was let.

Most of the work required upon one section of the canal, together with the greater part of the clearing and grubbing of the line under contract, has been completed. There is now upon the line several thousand feet of plank and timber intended for locks and dams. A great portion of the timber is framed, and will, from its present exposed condition, decay very rapidly.

No survey west of the work under contract has been made during the present season. The resident engineer and party were engaged, (until the time when they left work in July,) in perfecting the location, setting side stakes, and superintending that part of the line let to contract. They have also constructed a log house near to where one of the locks was located upon the section, which is nearly finished. This house was intended for an office and place of residence for the engineer corps while the work was in progress, and has therefore been charged to the engineer department, although it was supposed that it would be required for a lock house whenever the work was completed.

River Improvements—Grand River.

The progress made in the improvement of this river, has rendered it navigable for boats, during a medium stage of the water, from the head of the rapids to Ionia. A small steam-boat built for the purpose of running on the river, has made several trips during the past season, between the above mentioned points. The drought which prevailed during the spring, and summer of the present year, in the vicinity of this river and its tributaries, reduced the usual quantity of water in the stream so much, that for some time all navigation upon it was suspended.

The low state of the water in the river, has, however, been favorable for the contractors, who have succeed in removing the greater part of the trees, snags, and jams of drift-wood which were lodged in the stream between Lyons and Grand Rapids. They have also excavated several of the most prominent bars, and contracted the channel in many places by means of wing dams or jetties, and parallel piers. Wherever islands occur in the river, it has generally been found that by obstructing the lesser channel a sufficient volume of water was thrown into the other to allow at all times of the passage of boats.

The improvement of the river upon the present plan will render it navigable the greater portion of each season; but it is not improbable that the changes which will occur in the bed of the stream during the flood, will, when the water subsides, interrupt the navigation, and call for a yearly expenditure in the removing of these obstructions. This expenditure, however, may, and probably would not exceed the annual expense for repairs upon a canal for the same distance.

I am not aware that any work has been done towards the improvement of the river the present season, between Grand Rapids and lake Michigan. Within the distance of the first fourteen miles below the rapids, several bars occur in the river; these have not, however, until within the present year, materially interrupted the navigation.

A re-survey of the river has been made during the last winter, under the direction of the honorable J. Almy, who was then chief engineer of this work, and has furnished all the maps, plans, &c., for it up to the time of his resignation. The distance from Lyons to the lake, according to this survey, is ninety-five miles and seventy-four chains. For a minute statement of the survey, and the progress of the work done upon the river during the past season, I would respectfully ask leave to refer you to the report of Jason Lyman, Esq., the resident engineer upon this work.

Grand Rapids Canal Survey.

In compliance with a resolution of the board of commissioners, and in pursuance with your instructions, I have made a survey, map and estimate for a canal upon both sides of the rapids of Grand river.

The survey and estimate on the east side of the river include a survey and estimate for the amount of work done by the Kent company, in the construction of a canal or race, which commences sixty-eight chains below the head of the rapids, and runs near to and parallel with the river for thirty-six chains, to its termination at Bridge street.

This canal is eighty feet wide at the surface of the water, which is about two feet deep, and three and a half feet below the surface of the water in the pond at the head of the rapids. It will be necessary, in order to make use of it in carrying out the plan projected for the passage of boats around the rapids, to raise the water in it three feet, which will then give a depth of five feet water, with a descent of six inches in the distance of one mile. To accomplish this, the banks of the canal must be raised from two to five feet in height; the water should also be shut out from it, and some snags and loose stones removed.

The Kent company have constructed a guard lock at the head of their canal, which has not been included in the estimate, for the reason that it will be necessary to construct one upon a different plan and of a more permanent character. Above the guard lock, a wing wall or dam has been extended up the river for a distance of eighteen chains. The upper part of this is only temporary; the balance, and greater part, which is included in the estimate, is intended for a permanent structure.

There is now one flouring mill; one saw mill with two saws, one furnace and machine shop, which, with some other minor machinery not enumerated, draw their supply of water from this canal.

Without the original field notes or surface levels of the ground where this canal has been constructed, it is impracticable to arrive at the exact number of cubic yards which in the execution of the work have been removed. It is probable, however, that the approximation which has been obtained from the present survey, will exclude any material error from the estimate which is hereinafter submitted. The amount of this estimate is six thousand two hundred and ninety dollars; from this however, should be deducted a sum equivalent to the value of the materials excavated from the canal, and disposed of for other purposes than its construction. According to the estimate, there should be about fifteen hundred cords of stone which have not been used in the construction of the canal or wing dam, and which would now be worth nearly or quite enough to pay the cost of excavation.

The survey, map and profile extend from the head of the rapids down the river one mile and sixty chains, in which distance there is a fall of 17½ feet, which it is proposed to overcome with the exception of the half foot, in two combined locks of equal lift, located at the intersection of the canal with the river.

These rapids are caused by a stratum of lime rock, which extend across the river and forms a natural dam, over which the water flows with a uniform velocity for a distance of one and a half miles, when the rock disappears, and the bed of the river is composed of loose stones and gravel.

Immediately above the termination of the rock bar at the head of the rapids, the water is from ten to fifteen feet deep; but from this place to the guard lock, it will average only about one foot in depth when at its minimum height; consequently, a large amount of rock excavation is required, which forms a prominent item in the expense of construction.

This excavation could be avoided by placing a dam across the river that would raise the water of the pond three feet in height; but the land in the valley of the river, for several miles above is only slightly elevated above the water—in consequence, several thousand acres would be overflowed. The damage arising from this would alone be sufficient to counterbalance any advantage gained by avoiding the rock excavation; but aside from this, if the expense of constructing the dam, and the increased amount of lockage it would create, and their maintenance be taken into consideration, it would amount to a sum that would fall but little, if any, below the estimate on the plan proposed for the execution of the work.

From the termination of the Kent company's canal, to the point of intersection with the river, is twenty-two chains. The water in the river at this point is fifteen and a half feet below the pond at the head of the rapids. The survey was extended down the river twenty-four chains, which gave a descent of two feet, making a total descent of seventeen and a half feet, as was before stated.

It is usually advisable to locate locks with a sufficient pond-reach between them; but to have done this would, in this instance, besides increasing the expense of construction, have destroyed the water power below the upper lock.

The twenty-five thousand dollars appropriated by the legislature for the construction of this canal, would, if judiciously expended, be sufficient to complete that portion of it not located in the river. This, with a small expenditure near the head of the rapids, would open a communication that would admit of the passage of steamboats in all ordinary stages of the water; but to insure at all times (when the river is not closed by frost) an uninterrupted navigation, would, according to the plan and estimate herewith submitted, require an expenditure of $46,685 60. This sum includes $6,290 for the canal which has been constructed by the Kent company.

The estimates are based upon a canal eighty feet in width at the surface of the water and five feet deep, with locks one hundred and twenty feet by thirty feet in the chamber; a guard and lift lock to be constructed at the head of the canal, to regulate the ingress of water and admit of the passage of boats during floods. Above this lock an embankment in the river, protected by a heavy wall on the outer side, is to extend nearly parallel with the shore to the head of the rapids. This wall and embankment should generally be about one hundred and fifty feet from the shore and two feet above the surface of the water in the canal. When the river is not much above its mean height and the guard lock closed, the water will shed over the wall, which will, during extreme high water, be covered entirely. Through the rock it is designed to excavate a channel only fifty feet in width; this excavation will average about two feet in depth and extend a distance of one half mile.

A range of small islands which commence near the termination of the canal and extend about half a mile down the river form an east channel about two hundred feet in width, from which it will be necessary to excavate several thousand yards of earth, or remove the same by dredging.

The length of the survey on the west side of the river is one mile and forty one chains, which includes all the descent in the rapids.

The plan upon which the estimate is based, is the same as that for the west side of the river, as will appear by reference to the map and profile.

The estimate amounts to fifty-two thousand five hundred and eighty-seven dollars, which sum includes the dredging of the river, and exceeds that for the east side of the river by five thousand seven hundred and thirty-six dollars and forty cents.

The length of the canal from which the floods of the river are excluded, is fifty-eight chains, being fifteen chains longer than upon the opposite side of the river. The difference in the expense, however, does not arise from this, but grows out of the much greater amount of protection wall required in consequence of the high bank of the river which confines the location of the canal for a great distance to the bed of the stream.

Sault de Ste Marie Canal.

No labor worthy of mention has been done by the contractors towards the construction of this canal.

The period of time assigned for the completion of the work required by the only contract which has been let, expired by limitation on the first day of September last. Preparations were made by the contractors early in the spring of the present year, for the prosecution of the work, but before it was commenced, notice was received from the commanding officer at Fort Brady, that they would not be allowed to trespass upon the military reservation upon which the canal had been located. They, however, proceeded and commenced the work at or near a mill race belonging to the United States; but were immediately ordered off from the work, which they then abandoned and have since refused to resume, although duly notified that they would be allowed to proceed without further interruption.

The instructions contained in a communication received from the president of the board, dated July 3, received my immediate attention, and in compliance therewith, I addressed a letter to Mr. S. L. Fuller, the resident engineer upon the canal, authorizing and requesting him to give such assurance to the officers in command at Fort Brady, as was required of me by the following resolution of the board of internal improvement:

"Resolved, That the engineer in charge of said work be directed to assure the officer commanding Fort Brady, and also the acting assistant quartermaster at that post, that the mill race of the United States saw mill will not be interfered with, by which the same shall be injured or left in any worse condition, (by the construction of said canal,) than it now is in."

A copy of the above resolution was enclosed in a letter of instruction to Mr. Fuller, who, in reply, under date of August 9, 1839, writes as follows:

"Yours of July 8, reached me on the 4th inst. I immediately addressed a note to A. A. Q. M. at Fort Brady, of which the following is a copy:"

"The chief engineer on the Sault de Ste Marie canal, requests me to assure the A. A. Q. M. at Fort Brady, that, at the completion of the Sault de Ste Marie canal, the mill race shall be left in as good condition as it may be in at the commencement of said work. The leaving it in as good condition, implies the placing a gate at or near the point of intersection."

"The following note with duplicate articles, was received this day:

"Your letter of the 5th inst. has been received. The instructions I have received from the quartermaster's department, are such as to require a formal obligation on the part of the state engineer on the Sault de Ste Marie ship canal; I herewith inclose an instrument to that effect, the signing of which by you, as state engineer, will remove all obstacles to the resumption of the work. Signed by the A. A. Q. M. Lt. Root, 5th infantry."

"The obligation, which follows, I signed 'Tracy M'Craken, engineer,' 'by S. L. Fuller, assistant surveyor.'

"The state engineer on the Sault de Ste Marie ship canal, hereby assumes the obligation hereinafter mentioned, for, and in behalf of the state of Michigan, to wit:

"1. That the race way of the United States mill near Fort Brady, Michigan, shall be left in as good condition at the completion of the said ship canal, as it may be at the commencement of the work; and that nothing shall be done in the completion of the above work, which might serve to impede the effective working of said public mill.

"2. That the said state engineer shall cause a gate to be placed in the said race way, at or near the point of intersection of the above canal.

"Signed in duplicate at Sault de Ste Marie, in the State of Michigan, on the 9th day of August, 1839. Signed as before mentioned."

"One of the contractors, Mr. Weeks, is here with some laboring men, but I doubt whether he intends commencing work; if he does not by the first day of September, the expiration of the contract, I shall consider it my duty to leave here for Detroit as soon as an opportunity offers, provided no orders are received from Mr. M'Craken, to the contrary. I have staked out that portion of the canal lying below the mill-race; it is useless to stake out more, as the grubbing would remove the stakes.

"If this contract is broken and the commissioner re-lets the work, it may be necessary for me to remain longer than till the first of September.

("Signed,)

S. L. FULLER," &c.

Mr. Fuller remained at Sault de Ste Marie until after the time specified in the contract for the completion of the work had expired. The contractors did not re-commence their work; and it is not unreasonable to suppose that they might have been influenced to the commencement of the work at the United States mill-race and in the course which they have since pursued, by the advance of $5,000 which they obtained from the state.

The fact, that nothing has been done upon this canal, although moneys have been advanced to aid in its construction, and that other public works, towards which no advances have been made, have been successfully prosecuted, serve to confirm the opinion which the undersigned previously entertained, of the impolicy of advancing to contractors.

Very respectfully submitted by your obedient servant,
TRACY M'CRACKEN, Engineer.

Report of L. S. HUMPHREY, Commissioner in charge of the Southern Railroad, Havre branch Railroad, Clinton Canal, and the improvement of the St. Joseph River.

To the Hon. RIX ROBINSON,

President Board of Internal Improvement.

In accordance with a resolution of the board of internal improvement, the undersigned, commissioner having charge of the southern railroad, and other of the public works, respectfully submits the following report:

Of the amount of moneys expended, together with the condition and situation of all the works under his supervision.

At the date of my last annual report, I confidently anticipated that at this time the southern railroad would be in active operation along the line of the two first divisions, but circumstances entirely beyond my control, and which even the energies of the contractors could not entirely surmount, have combined to retard the completion of the work.

The deranged state of our monetary affairs, the extreme difficulty of obtaining funds to pay out on the road, added to the prostrating sickness which prevailed during the summer and the early part of autumn, present not only an apology for the contractors in not entirely completing their work, but, taking into consideration the actual state of the work, as presented in the accompanying report of the chief engineer, (and to which you are respectfully referred for a more detailed account,) the contractors are entitled to great credit for prosecuting the work with a perseverance which seemed determined to overcome all difficulties.

Since the first of November, (the date of the engineer's report,) the contractors upon the first division of the road have continued to go on in completion of their contracts, and the road is now entirely completed to Petersburg, a distance of 18 miles, and the whole of this division will, it is believed, be finished by the 1st of January, together with the depot buildings, engine house, &c., &c., at Monroe.

The second division of the road is in a state of forwardness, considerably more than one half of the work being done. It is still steadily progressing, and it is believed that it will be at least two-thirds completed by the first of January next. On the first division, $234,840 90 had been expended up to November the first, and it will require $12,600 to complete the work according to the estimates of the engineer. On the second division, $149,567 was expended up to the same date, and the estimated expense of completion is $112,260.

The estimates made by the chief engineer, are, unquestionably, very liberal, and I do not hesitate in assuring the board that I confidently believe the actual cost will not exceed the estimate submitted in his report. I may add that it is a source of great satisfaction to me, that the whole road, including the Dundee branch, will undoubtedly be completed for a sum per mile, not much, if any, exceeding the original estimate of the engineer. The second division (of 32 miles) from Adrian to Hillsdale, having been always estimated to be the most expensive of any portion of the route from Monroe to New Buffalo.

It will be perceived that greater progress has been made since my last report, on this division of the road, than on the one from Monroe to Adrian. I have ever considered the simultaneous completion (as nearly as possible) of the first and second divisions of the southern railroad to be of the utmost importance to the state. It is only by active operations tending to the speedy completion of the western division of the road, that the eastern portion can be made a source of revenue to the state. The road from Monroe to Adrian, by greater exertion and the application of more of the funds at my disposal, on that division, might undoubtedly have been completed ere this. But it is esteemed of comparatively little importance to place cars upon the eastern division of the road, before that portion from Adrian to Hillsdale is completed, as the road, when finished to Hillsdale, will penetrate the country so far as to be accessible to the finest wheat growing and agricultural district in Michigan; one in which there is at present a great surplus of produce deprived of a market. It is plainly perceptible that if the southern railroad were now in operation it would add many thousands of dollars to the value of the surplus crops of the south and west. I believe that experience will readily demonstrate that this road is of no less importance, and will be no less productive, than any railroad in the western states, and should early provision be made by the legislature for the payment of the unexpended balance already appropriated, the whole line of road to Hillsdale, may, within a limited period, be in a situation to return back to the treasury of the State, a fair interest on its cost.

The contractors have been so situated that they could not, without great loss and inconvenience, and in some instances, without absolute ruin to themselves, suffer their contracts to remain unfulfilled; while, to go on with them, has been attended with much embarrassment to themselves and the commissioner, from the utter impossibility of obtaining money on the auditor general's warrants, at the bank of Michigan, or elsewhere.

I have, therefore, permitted the contractors to draw on me, on account of their particular monthly estimates, in sums required for their immediate necessities, and have accepted their drafts. These acceptances have been readily received by merchants and provision dealers. Such of them as have become due, have been met and arranged by me, and thus the whole work has been kept in operation, when it must otherwise have been discontinued. This course, I believe, has met with the entire approbation of the contractors, without exception.

In consequence of the law of 1838, which prohibited any commissioner from having in his hands more than $5,000 at one time, great inconvenience, trouble and expense were likely to be incurred, the monthly estimates amounting, in some cases, to near forty thousand dollars, and to have paid out $5,000 at a time, to have gone to Detroit and obtained another $5,000, and returned to make the payment, would have required six or eight journeys per month from the line of road to Detroit and back, I consequently made an arrangement with the bank of River Raisin to pay out their bills on the monthly estimates in part, and receive from me the auditor general's warrants, and such funds as I received from the State bank; an arrangement of great convenience to contractors and laborers. Of the bills of that institution paid out on the road, (with the exception only of a very small amount,) all have been presented and redeemed, without loss to the holders.

To contractors whose resources were limited, and whose compensation for work was low, I have considered myself under obligations to make in their behalf, some extra exertions to pay them monthly, according to the provisions of their contract, in such manner as would enable them to continue their operations, thereby saving them a greater sacrifice—that of discontinuing their work altogether. In furtherance of my views on this subject, I have received the assistance and co-operation of the whole engineer department. They have taken upon themselves extra duties and responsibilities, (Mr. Barker particularly) in allowing the contractors to draw on them, and becoming otherwise personally responsible to laborers, and other individuals to whom the contractors were indebted.

I have made monthly advances to many of the contractors, of cash, proportioned to the amount received from the state, by acceptances of drafts drawn on me, and in various other modes, rendered necessary by their wants, and which were considered advantageous to the parties. In doing this, I have been influenced by an anxious desire to meet the just demands of the contractors, and to promote the interests of the public, by advancing the progress of the road. The principal reason, however, why the southern railroad has progressed, and is still progressing, notwithstanding the embarrassments of the times, is to be found in the strong desire entertained, not only by the contractors, but by the public generally, that the work should proceed, and their disposition to render every aid in their power to have a road in which the whole southern portion of the state is so vitally interested, completed, in order that its immense surplus of produce may find an avenue to market. The contractors on the second division have already made their arrangements for the energetic prosecution of the work during the winter, under the confident expectation that early provision will be made by the legislature for the fulfillment of the contracts on the part of the state.

It will be seen from my accounts rendered, that I have received no money for any work done since May last, and that there is a large sum (not less than $100,000) now due on the southern road, for work performed since May last; and I have at present in my hands, vouchers unaudited, and upon which warrants have not been obtained, to the amount of $84,000, a portion of which is due to contractors, and a part to me for advances made. I have also advanced to contractors the sum of about $3,000, for which estimates have not yet been made, nor vouchers rendered, having been delayed in order to give the contractors time to complete their work and obtain a final estimate.

In submitting my account current, embracing the whole amount of moneys received and disbursed by me, and more fully to explain the transactions between the state and myself, as also between the banks and myself, it is necessary to go back to a period anterior to my last report. In the years 1837 and 1838, while the Michigan state bank acted as the fiscal agent of the state, and was the depository of the state funds, I received from that institution a large amount of the bills of the banks in operation under the general banking law. About the month of August, 1838, it was determined to pay out no more of their money. At this time, my payments on the southern road were about $36,000 per month, and the Michigan state bank being unwilling to pay out their own or the bills of the chartered banks in so large amounts, a proposition was made to me to take drafts on the Canal bank at Albany, at 60 and 90 days' sight. The contractors being anxious to receive cash payments, I effected an arrangement with the bank of River Raisin to receive these drafts of me, and furnish and pay out the amount of them, to meet their immediate wants. The drafts were made payable to my order, and I endorsed them, received their proceeds and paid them out on the road, while the drafts were forwarded to the Albany city bank by the Bank of River Raisin. The whole amount of drafts received in this way was over $70,000, a portion of which did not fall due until after the failure of the Michigan state bank, and were consequently protested to the amount of about $43,000, of which amount I have since taken up and paid $13,000, of which latter sum the State bank has paid me a part, and a part, amounting to $5,307 50, I have charged over to the state in my account for the year 1838. I have one of these drafts still remaining in my hands, which if not arranged by the bank, must necessarily be charged to the state. The remainder of the drafts, amounting to the sum of $30,000, are still held by the Albany city bank, unpaid. The Michigan state bank has given the Albany bank a partial security for the same; but I have received notice from the latter, institution that it looks to me, as an endorser, to take them up. These drafts were originally paid to me as commissioner, by the fiscal agent of the state, on accounts audited and allowed, and the whole amounts of the drafts was paid out by me for the sole benefit of the state. I endorsed them in the ordinary course of business, and for the sole purpose of realizing the money on them to disburse on the southern road. I mention these circumstances to the board, as a convenient method of drawing the attention of the legislature to the facts, in order that in view of the position in which I am placed, they may indemnify me in the matter.

In connection with this subject, I would add, that in May last, my accounts were audited to the amount (including a portion for iron) of $77,000, for which I took the auditor general's drafts on the Morris canal and banking company, N. Y., payable the 1st day of November. I forwarded them to the east, and succeeded in getting a portion of them cashed, and with some difficulty induced Hicks & Co., of New York, to take $30,000 of them in payment for iron. Davis, Brooks & Co., also of New York, at that time held the drafts of the bank of River Raisin given them for iron, having some time to run before they arrived at maturity. I proposed to that firm to give them the auditor general's drafts above referred to, in lieu of the drafts of the bank of River Raisin, which they then held. They acceded to my proposition, and returned me the River Raisin drafts, upon which the River Raisin bank advanced the money, which was immediately paid out on the road. The amount paid Davis, Brooks, & Co., was $16,000. The balance of these drafts, amounting to $20,000, was left at the Albany city bank (with authority to draw from time to time) to the credit of the bank of River Raisin, and the latter institution immediately disbursed the amount for the state. The Albany city bank, however, instead of applying the proceeds of the state drafts to the payment of the drafts of the River Raisin bank, have retained the funds of the River Raisin bank to the amount of between seven and ten thousand dollars, and applied them to the payment of the drafts of the Michigan state bank, which they held under protest, and which are referred to in the former part of my report as endorsed by me. Some of the drafts of the River Raisin bank above referred to, were given for the transportation of iron, at a time when the bank of Michigan declined furnishing drafts or any thing else, to pay the transportation, and the forwarding houses themselves refused to receive warrants on the treasury. Of these drafts, all have been paid in full by the bank, except two, amounting both of them to $2,222 31.

For a part of the amount of work done in the month of May last, I received drafts of the bank of Michigan, on J. Ward & Co., for $28,000, payable on the first of January next. To avail myself of these drafts, I was obliged to get them discounted at my own expense, as they did not draw interest, and this I have deemed proper to charge in my account.

The attention of the board is directed to the fact, that the whole amount of moneys received by me to be expended upon all the different works under my supervision, stands charged on the books of the auditor general to the appropriation for the southern railroad. But in my account current, herewith submitted, each work is charged with its appropriate expenditures. From which it will appear, that there still remains unexpended for the appropriation for the southern road, the sum of about $75,000, which, if judiciously expended, will nearly complete the work.

In May last, I received, under a resolution of the board, auditor general's warrants to the amount of $15,000, for the purchase of two locomotive engines. I applied to M. W. Baldwin & Co., of Philadelphia, for that purpose, and on learning their terms, I found that it would be impossible for me to convert the warrants into such funds as they required, in time for the delivery of the engines before the close of navigation—consequently they are delayed until the ensuing spring.

Clinton and Kalamazoo Canal.

This important work was put under my supervision as acting commissioner, in the month of July last. Previously to which time, operations had been suspended on the first, second and third sections. On the remainder of the sections, the work has generally progressed during the summer. Of the amount expended since June last, about $20,000 has been audited, and warrants received and paid to contractors. This work has been prosecuted with commendable perseverance and energy by many of the contractors, during the past summer and autumn, evincing a full determination to carry forward their contracts to completion. The numerous and important advantages to flow from an artificial avenue of communication through that portion of the state in which the canal is located; the inevitable loss of a large sum of money already expended for labor and the purchase of materials, which an entire abandonment of the enterprise would involve, and the unanimous desires of the north, induce me to express the hope that this work may be put in such shape as to be rendered speedily available for the purposes for which it was designed, and respectfully to suggest to the board, the propriety of a recommendation in their report to the legislature, that a change be made in the line of canal near the village of Mt. Clemens, so as to turn it into the Detroit river at the city of Detroit; a route which, in my opinion, would greatly increase the utility of the work, while it would form a combination of interests sufficiently powerful to insure its early completion.

For further information respecting the progress and condition of the work, I refer you to the detailed statement of Mr. Turner, accompanying this report.

St. Joseph River.

In June last, the following resolution, authorizing the conditional prosecution of the improvements on the St. Joseph river, was adopted by the board:

“Resolved, That the commissioner having charge of the improvement of the St. Joseph river, be authorized to let contracts on said river, provided, that in his opinion, the same can be done advantageously, and for the best interests of the state, taking into consideration the embarrassed state of the treasury.”

The evident importance of this improvement, and the solicitude manifested by the south-west in its behalf, induced me to give it my attentive consideration. Upon mature deliberation, however, and with a knowledge of the fact of the inability of the board to meet their engagements for contracts already entered into, together with the daily increasing embarrassments in our financial affairs, I was compelled, under a sense of my official responsibility and a due regard for the best interests of the state, to postpone the commencement of operations upon the work.

In March last, under a resolution of the board, I was authorized to make a settlement with Messrs. Prentiss & Budlong, contractors on the southern railroad, of claims for extra compensation, in such manner as would, in my judgment, best promote the interests of the state. As any action of mine in the premises would have been establishing a precedent productive of great future inconvenience and increased expense to the state, I have as yet, declined proceeding in the matter.

Since my last annual report, nothing further has been done upon the Havre branch railroad. For any information required, I refer you to that document.

The accompanying statements will exhibit the amount of expenditures on all the public works under my supervision up to the 1st of December, 1839.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

L. S. HUMPHREY, Commissioner.

As agent of the state of Michigan, under a resolution of the board, passed April 6, 1838, for the purchase of iron, a contract was entered into with Messrs. Hicks & Co., of New York, for the purchase of iron for one hundred miles of railroad. But in consequence of its non-arrival in time to be delivered before the close of navigation in the fall of 1838, and under the expectation that the iron would be needed for the central road, before the opening of navigation in the spring of 1839, it was thought advisable to purchase of Messrs. Davis, Brooks & Co., of New York, a quantity sufficient to complete that road from Ypsilanti to Ann Arbor, (a distance of ten miles.) This arrangement was effected with Davis, Brooks & Co., in November, 1838, and the order to Hicks & Co., countermanded, so far as to call for ninety instead of one hundred miles of iron which was acceded to by Hicks & Co. The amount purchased of Davis, Brooks & Co. has all been delivered; and from Hicks & Co., a quantity amounting, in addition to that purchased of Davis, Brooks & Co., to about nine hundred tons. Of this amount, I have received and paid transportation on about 798 tons, the greater part of which has been used on the southern road, and a small portion on the central road. The remainder of the nine hundred tons was received at Detroit, the transportation paid by the commissioner having charge of the central road, and was used upon that road. Messrs. Hicks & Co., have received from me $58,000, and have delivered about six hundred tons of iron, leaving in their hands between five and six hundred tons, on which they received pay in June last.

By my account current, as agent for the state, herewith submitted, it will appear that I have received the sum of $108,898 60 from the treasurer of the state for the payment of the account of iron and spikes; and that I have paid out the sum of $105,794 03, for which the vouchers are submitted. I have also paid to L. Benedict & Co., of Albany, about $1,800 for spike, for which payment I have never received a voucher. It will be further noticed, from my account, that I have vouchers unaudited, for advances made on account of transportation of iron, to the amount of $2,592 71.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Report of J. S. DUTTON, Chief Engineer on works under charge of L. S. Humphrey, Commissioner.

To the Honorable, the Board of Internal Improvement of the State of Michigan:

The undersigned, in compliance with a resolution of October last, has caused accurate estimates to be taken of all the work performed on the southern and Dundee branch railroads, up to November 1, 1839. Also, a careful, accurate estimate of all the unfinished work, and whole expenditure required to complete the road from Monroe to Hillsdale, a distance of sixty-seven miles.

The contractors have progressed slowly on the whole line of road during the year. They have been retarded, and have experienced much embarrassment in consequence of not receiving their payments regularly as stipulated in their contracts.

It was anticipated that the first division of the road, from Monroe to Adrian, a distance of thirty-five miles, would have been completed in the early part of the summer; but the want of funds has furnished a reasonable excuse for the contractors, and in fact made it impossible for them to finish their work as soon as was expected. The work is now progressing more rapidly, and it is confidently believed that it will all be completed by the first of January next.

The superstructure is all laid except about one-quarter of a mile on sections twenty-one and thirty-two. The iron is laid on about ten miles, and all the ribbons, except eight or ten miles between sections nineteen and twenty-eight. The graduation of the road is finished, except one-quarter of a mile on section twenty-one, and some slight filling in the horse path and trimming of the banks on about one half the distance.

The depot buildings in Monroe are very nearly completed. They will house twelve cars for passengers, six locomotive engines, four rooms for offices, two work shops for repairs, with a spacious wood house attached.

We have constructed, in and about the depot buildings, the necessary branches or turnouts, amounting in the aggregate to one-half mile of road. Also, a large turning platform for turning engines.

The whole cost of work on the first division of the road for which estimates have been given and vouchers rendered, exclusive of depot buildings, right of way, fencing, engineering, &c., amounts to the following sums, to wit:

	Cost of work performed.	Estimate of work to be performed.
Grubbing and clearing southern railroad,	$11,214 62	$10,000 00
Superstructure, grading, &c., of do	189,609 88
Bridging,	22,445 96
Grubbing, grading and laying superstructure, furnishing timber, timber bridging, &c., on Dundee branch railroad,	11,570 44	1,200 00
	$234,840 90	$12,600 00

The second division of the southern railroad extends from Adrian to Hillsdale, a distance of thirty-two miles. A number of the contractors on this division are progressing with their work moderately. They have generally made arrangements to continue their work during the winter. The timber for the superstructure is mostly "got out," and will be delivered in the fore part of the winter.

The following table exhibits the cost of the work done up to the present time; also the amount required to complete the work.

	Cost of work performed.	Estimate of work to be performed.
Grubbing and clearing,	$12,090 00	$300 00
Grading and culverts,	80,477 00	50,447 00
Bridge work, including foundations,	20,500 00	8,838 00
Superstructure, including timber and laying down, forming horse path, &c.,	38,500 00	52,677 00
Total,	$149,567 00	$112,260 00
To which add the first division and Dundee branch,	234,840 90	12,600 00
Aggregate of both divisions,	$384,407 90	$124,860 00

It appears from the above statement, that the work upon the second division of the road, will cost something more when completed than it was estimated in a former estimate. It arises in consequence of coming in contact with a much greater amount of indurated or hard pan excavation, and the extensive settlement of the embankments in several of the many marshes over which the road passes.

I would recommend to substitute piling in place of embankments, for about one thousand feet on the "long marsh," in the vicinity of Hillsdale; the estimates have been made accordingly.

It is worthy of remark, also, that the estimates for unfinished work are made very large, with a view to meet all those contingencies, and that the cost of the same will, in no case, exceed the estimate.

Taking the two divisions of the southern road, in connection with the Dundee branch, amounting in all to seventy-one miles, it will be seen that the cost per mile will come within the bounds of my original estimate.

The cost of engineering to be reported since January last, I am unable to present at this time. The greater part of the expense was incurred previously to April 20th, 1839, at which time the engineer department was organized strictly conforming to the provisions of an act passed by the legislature at the above date. More assistants were required than otherwise would have been, had not our operations extended over seventy-one miles of railroad.

The engineer department has lately been reduced to one assistant engineer, one leveler and draftsman, one superintendent of laying iron, ribbon and grading, &c., and one common hand, in all but four persons.

All which is respectfully submitted, by

Your obedient servant,

JOSEPH S. DUTTON,

Monroe, November 1, 1839.

Report of A. TURNER, Engineer on Clinton and Kalamazoo Canal.

To L. S. HUMPHREY, Esq.,

Acting Commissioner on the Clinton and Kalamazoo Canal:

SIR—In compliance with your request, I herewith transmit to you a report of the progress and condition of that part of the Clinton and Kalamazoo canal now under contract, from the village of Mt. Clemens to the village of Rochester, a distance of sixteen miles.

The expense of constructing this part of the canal on the original located line, at the contract prices as estimated, amounts to

$292,762 28

The saving of expense by adopting the river line as now located, from the village of Mt. Clemens to the village of Frederick, amounts to

38,842 48

Deducted from the above, leaves

$253,919 80

The amount of work done on the several sections, including materials, as estimated up to the first of November, is

101,640 38

Which deducted from the above, leaves

the amount of work required to be done to complete the contracts.

The grubbing is nearly completed. There are fourteen timber locks, the materials for which, (with the exception of iron,) are mostly furnished. Four of these locks are nearly framed, ready for the work; the iron furnished for two of them. The others are in a state of forwardness, to be completed as early in the ensuing season as the iron can be obtained.

The other portions of the work are progressing with as much rapidity as the circumstances of the contractors will admit of.

The materials liable to injury, furnished for the locks, aqueducts and bridges, including labor done in framing, as estimated, amounts to $25,818 19, which, if suffered to remain long in their present situation, will become wholly unfit for the use intended.

Annexed is a detailed account of work done and materials furnished on the several sections separately, as estimated, up to the first of November.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Letter of JARVIS HURD, relative to the location of the Clinton and Kalamazoo Canal.

To WILLIAM R. THOMPSON,
Commissioner of Internal Improvement :

SIR—In compliance with your request I have carefully estimated the expense of constructing and completing an independent canal from Mt. Clemens, on the route as fixed upon by a part of the board of internal improvement of 1838, to a point a few chains west of the west crossing of the Clinton river, at the village of Frederick, a distance of two miles and fifty-two chains; also of improving the river so as to use it as a canal, by cutting across two narrow peninsulas, and constructing a towing path on its north bank, to a point near the present proposed lower crossing of the river, by an aqueduct at Frederick; thence crossing the village plat of Frederick, on suitable ground, and where little or no damage would be sustained, and passing the river at the upper crossing by a dam; making this route three miles and twenty-nine chains. This is the one I recommended to the board of internal improvement last year, previous to the location, as the one best calculated to promote the good of the state and advance the interest of the canal, in the cost of construction, in the safety of the works, and in the expense of repairs after the works are completed. It dispenses with two long and expensive aqueducts, ever exposed to much danger from floods, jams of ice and drift wood, as the bed of the stream on which the foundation of the piers are to rest is sand or sand and gravel, and where is to be apprehended much danger from quicksands. The trunks of the aqueduct, which are to be of timber, will ever be a perpetual expense to the state, as well as keeping in repair and re-building every few years, the extra bridges; and the securing the quicksand slides on the present line, will be, I apprehend, much additional expense to the present estimate, or if suffered to slide in until it forms its proper slope, a yearly expense in removing it. In adopting this route, I know of no interest, either private or public, local or general, that would not be equally promoted by substituting that of the river. The canal enters the river on its present location before it reaches the village of Mount Clemens, and it would not have elsewhere than in the river at the same point, had the river route been adopted. I never could discover any good reason why the route should have been adopted in preference to the one recommended, when a saving of more than fifty thousand dollars to the state might have been made by substituting the river route; nor have I during the last year, since the work has been in operation, discovered any thing to induce me to change my views or to convince me that I had erred in judgment; but to the contrary, some of the work already done is proving the correctness of my statements to the board at the time of location, that these quicksand slides would prove troublesome and expensive—a little part of them have already been marked, and an extra width has been excavated, and still it continues sliding into the canal, and much the greatest proportion and the most difficult and expensive part is yet to do. This would all have been obviated had the river route been adopted; and although some fourteen thousand dollars have been expended on that part of the line, yet in my opinion it would be far better for the interest of the state, and certainly for the canal, to lose what has been already expended there and adopt the river route, by which a saving still may be made, over and above the cost of completing the present line of location, of thirty-eight thousand eight hundred and forty-two dollars and thirty cents, than to squander it on a work where neither the public good or private interest is to be benefitted from its expenditure, where much is to be risked in the safety and permanency of the works when completed. The entire expense of the present route when completed, will amount to one hundred and four thousand nine hundred and twelve dollars and twenty cents. The whole cost of the river line would be fifty-one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight dollars and seventeen cents; deducted from the amount of the line as located, it leaves a balance of fifty-three thousand and twenty-three dollars and eighty-five cents, the sum which might have been saved to the state in adopting the route recommended, from which deduct the present expenditure on the located line, one hundred and forty-one thousand one hundred and eighty-one dollars and fifty-five cents, and it leaves still thirty-eight thousand eight hundred and forty-two dollars and thirty cents yet to be saved to the state in abandoning the present location, and adopting the river for a canal, with a towing path upon its bank, which I would still recommend and advise as the most safe and judicious course.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Opinion of Engineers on the change of the manner of constructing the Clinton and Kalamazoo Canal, between Mount Clemens and Frederick.

Detroit, July 8, 1839.

To the Hon. RIX ROBINSON,

President of the Board of Internal Improvement:

SIR—In compliance with a resolution of the board of internal improvement, the undersigned, principal engineers in the service of the state, have examined the route of the Clinton and Kalamazoo canal from the upper crossing of the Clinton river at the village of Frederick, to its eastern termination at Mount Clemens, as located by the board of internal improvement of the last year; and also the route of the Clinton river, between the two points above named, with a view to its improvement, and the construction of a towing path along its banks, as recommended by Jarvis Hurd, Esq., the former chief engineer, and having fully considered the several questions connected with said improvement, beg leave to submit the following opinion:

The undersigned discover no argument of much importance in favor of the independent canal, except the saving of about half a mile in distance; whereas the cost of constructing the independent canal exceeds that of the improvement of the river, as estimated by Mr. Hurd, the sum of $53,024 00; a sacrifice too great to be justified by the object in view.

No insurmountable difficulty is apprehended from quicksand, either in the canal, or in preparing the foundations of the aqueducts across the Clinton river, as required for the independent canal, although its existence will, no doubt, add to the cost of construction, as from the best information that can be obtained, it will be necessary to widen the canal in some places, and also to drive piles for the foundation of the aqueducts, the cost of which does not appear to be included in Mr. Hurd's estimate. Independent, however, of the cost of these aqueducts, they are objectionable on account of being, in part, built of perishable materials, and the danger to which they are subjected from freshets, drift wood, jams of ice, &c., which danger it may be difficult to guard against; they are, therefore, believed to be a serious objection to the line at present located.

In order to use the river, Mr. Hurd proposed to cross it above Frederick on a dam, and taking a low level through the village plat, to drop into the river at or near the site of the eastern or lower aqueduct, and thence to Mount Clemens, to construct a towing path on the northern bank of the stream, cutting off, however, two narrow points, by which a considable saving of distance is effected. This plan dispenses with the aqueducts.

The shoalest parts of the stream were sounded, and the depth of water was found to be sufficient for the passage of boats of the proper draft for the canal.

The depth of water in the river, however, depends upon the rise and fall of water in the lakes, and on this account it will be necessary to build a dam, with lock attached, at or near Mount Clemens, in order to preserve the water at its present depth, or else to dredge out the shoaler portions of the stream; the expense of clearing out the stream is included in the estimate of Mr. Hurd.

Finding no objection whatever, to the use of the river, except a slight increase of distance, and being unable to discover any interest, either public or private, in any way connected with the matter, which the adoption of the river route would not equally subserve, and although about fourteen thousand dollars have already been expended upon the independent canal, a saving of more than thirty-eight thousand dollars may still be effected by a change of location, and that this difference would very probably be increased in the construction—we have arrived at the unanimous conclusion that the interest of the state would be promoted by abandoning the present location between the villages of Frederick and Mount Clemens, and substituting the river route, according to the plan proposed by the former chief engineer.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

(Signed,) By your obedient servants,
JOHN M. BERRIEN,
J. S. DUTTON,
TRACY M'CRACKEN.

Documents, Correspondence, etc., etc., relative to the Sault de Ste Marie Canal.

To the Hon. R. ROBINSON, L. S. HUMPHREY, W. R. THOMPSON,
Com. of Int. Imp. of the State of Michigan;

GENTLEMEN—The undersigned, contractors on the Sault de Ste Marie ship canal, take the earliest opportunity to report to your honorable body the present state of that work, and the proceedings which have been had by them in the prosecution of the same.

That immediately after receiving directions from the hon.
[Sen. Doc.] 87

Rix Robinson, acting commissioner on said canal, the undersigned, with all convenient dispatch, collected provisions, implements and men, necessary to the effectual prosecution of the work, and arrived on the line of the same on the eleventh day of May, of the present year. Upon landing their men, provisions, etc., etc., they were waited upon by William Root, lieutenant of the 5th infantry, acting assistant quartermaster, who served upon them a copy of a letter from the war department, and notice of said lieutenant, of which letter and notice, the following is a true copy :

“QUARTERMASTER GENERAL’S OFFICE, }
Washington, March 6, 1839. }

“SIR—Your letter of the 14th of January, has been received. It could not, it is presumed have been the intention of the legislature of Michigan, in contracting for the opening of the canal around the rapids of the Ste Marie, authorized by that body, to interfere with the improvements made by the United States at your post, amongst which, the mill race is regarded as one of the greatest importance. You will, therefore, apprise the contractor that he cannot be allowed, in the execution of his contract, to interfere in any way with that work.

“As the war department is, however, unwilling to throw any unnecessary impediment in the way of the important work projected by the state of Michigan, you will not object to its being conducted through the military reservation or grounds, provided it can be done without serious injury to the interests of the United States.

I am sir, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,

Fort Brady, May 12, 1839.

GENTLEMEN—I respectfully call your attention to the above copy of a letter from the acting quartermaster general, in pursuance to which it will be my duty to interfere with any work on the projected canal, that might injure the United States’ mill race near this post.

Respectfully, your obedient servant,

WM. ROOT,

Lieut. 5th Infantry, Acting Ass’t Quartermaster.

Messrs. SMITH, DRIGGS & WEEKS,

Contractors for canal around Ste Marie rapids.”

Upon receiving the above copy of a letter from the war department, and the notice of lieut. Wm. Root, acting ass't quartermaster at Fort Brady, of his intention to interfere with the work, the undersigned addressed to him a letter upon the subject, of which the following is a true copy :

Sault de Ste Marie, May 13, 1839.

"SIR—Your notice dated May 12th, has been received, with a copy of a letter from the acting quartermaster general of the United States, with instructions to stop the contractors of the Sault de Ste Marie ship canal, provided they interfere with the mill race, or any other improvements of the United States.

"Therefore we would respectfully ask, for further information, will the contractors be permitted to cross the said mill race with the excavation on said line, as the canal is located by the board of internal improvement of the state of Michigan, peaceably, and without interruption?

"We are bound by the state of Michigan, to excavate the said canal within the lines run and laid out by the chief engineer. These lines cross the said mill race a few rods from the upper lock, and it will be impossible for us, as contractors, bound by the state of Michigan, to proceed with the said work without interfering with, or having exclusive control of said mill race, where the line of said canal crosses.

"Therefore we shall proceed to work on said line of canal, and cannot allow water to flow through said race, where the line of the canal crosses the same, as it will entirely frustrate the object that the state of Michigan has in constructing a ship canal around the rapids of the Sault de Ste Marie; and the contractors will be obliged to abandon said work at a very great loss to themselves, and we believe to the state of Michigan.

"As we cannot see whereby the United States can be injured if the work should proceed as laid out by the authorities of the state of Michigan.

"You will answer the foregoing inquiries as soon as convenient.

(Signed,) "SMITH, DRIGGS & WEEKS,
"Contractors on the Sault de Ste Marie Canal.
per A. WEEKS, Agent.

"Lieut. WM. ROOT, Acting Assistant Quartermaster."

On the day of the date above, the undersigned received from A. Johnson, captain 5th infantry, commanding Fort Brady, an answer to the letter above addressed to lieutenant William Root, of which the following is a copy:

Fort Brady, May 13, 1839.

"SIR—I have received your letter to lieutenant Root, acting assistant quartermaster, concerning the cutting through the mill race belonging to the United States, and asking if the work shall be permitted to go on peaceably. It cannot. The instructions lieutenant Root has received from the quartermaster general's department are positive, and much as I regret impeding any work for the public good, I have only to see them carried out to their full extent.

"I have the honor to be your obedient servant,

"A. JOHNSON,

" Captain 5th Inf. Commanding Fort Brady.

"MR. WEEKS,

Agent for contractors for Sault de Ste Marie Canal."

After receiving the above letter from captain Johnson, and reflecting upon the nature of the engagement we had entered into with the state of Michigan, for constructing the canal around the rapids at the Sault de Ste Marie, the undersigned came to the conclusion, that their own interests, the great importance of the proposed canal, and the duty they owed the state, required them to prosecute the work until they were driven off, and prevented from the further prosecution of the same, by superior force over which they had no control. Acting upon that determination, they commenced proceedings. Some timber was chopped upon the line of the canal, when it was found necessary to the further proceeding in the premises, to draw off the water. With that view, the undersigned commenced digging some ditches; while at work at the ditches, captain Johnson, at the head of his company, fully armed and equipped, marched on to the ground and forbid any further work on the line of the canal, by the contractors.

The undersigned refused to obey his order, and believing they were right, continued their work. The said captain then ordered the undersigned to quit the ground with the hands under their employ. We refused to leave the line of the canal; upon which captain Johnson forcibly wrested from the foreman the instrument with which he was at work, and then compelled and drove the undersigned from the line of said canal, and entirely put an end to any further proceedings on the part of the contractors.

Therefore, in consequence of the forcible interference with the prosecution of the work, by the United States troops under the command of the said captain Johnson, the undersigned, as contractors for the building of the said canal, were forced to abandon for the present, the further execution of their contract.

The above statement of facts, connected with the prosecution of the said work, substantiated by the affidavits accompanying this communication, the undersigned felt it their duty to lay before the honorable the board of commissioners of the state of Michigan, for such action on the part of the board, as they may deem the interests and honor of the state of Michigan might require in the premises.

The undersigned deem it important to their own interest, and to a full and proper understanding of the matter, as it effects their contract with the state for the building and constructing said canal, to notify the said board of commissioners, that the contractors have been to a great expense in the fitting out and the procuring the necessary utensils and instruments for the prosecution of the work, in the hiring of men and the transportation of the same, and the necessary provisions, a great distance to the line of said work, in order to the punctual performance of the contract on their part; and that in consequence of being forced on the part of the United States, to abandon the work, they will sustain great loss in time and money actually expended in procuring the requisites necessary for the same, and that for all just and equitable damages they have or may sustain, from the being forced to abandon said work, for the present, they shall look to, and hold the state of Michigan liable to respond.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Very respectfully, your obedient servants.

WAR DEPARTMENT, }
Washington, June 20, 1839. }

SIR—Your letter of the 7th inst., addressed to the President of the United States, has been referred by him to this department, and I have the honor to acknowledge its receipt.

It is to be regretted that any difficulty should have occurred in carrying into effect the projected state work of internal improvement by the contractors; a difficulty produced altogether by their own precipitancy. The officers acting under the orders of this department were bound to prevent the commission of any act within the limits of the land belonging to the United States, which might prove injurious to the interest of the government; and in doing so, in no manner violated the sovereignty of the state of Michigan. Your excellency will perceive from the accompanying copies of correspondence on this subject, that this department entertained an earnest desire to offer no obstacle to the works of internal improvement of the state of Michigan, and only ask that the course of the canal passing through the lands reserved for military purposes, should be conducted in such a manner as not to interfere with the interests of the United States. If the contractors, instead of committing a trespass upon the lands of the United States, had sought by a friendly conference to show the officer commanding the station, that the course proposed would not be injurious to the interests of the government, they would have been permitted to proceed in the execution of the work, as they have since been by the instructions of the acting quartermaster general, addressed to lieutenant colonel Whiting, a copy of which is herewith transmitted.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully,
 Your most obedient servant,

QUARTERMASTER GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
Washington, June 19, 1839. }

SIR—In obedience to your instructions to report in relation to the subject of the letter addressed to the president of the United States, by his excellency the governor of the state of Michigan, referred to this office on the 15th instant, I have now the honor to state:

That the first intimation received at this office of the design of the state of Michigan to open a canal around the rapids of

Ste Marie, and through the military reservation at Fort Brady, was communicated in a letter from lieut. Root, acting assistant quartermaster at that post, dated 14th January, 1839, a copy of which is enclosed, (marked A.) stating that, according to the plans of the state engineer, the proposed canal would cross the race or feeder of the saw mill, belonging to the U. States, which would thereby be rendered perfectly useless and requesting instructions upon the subject. In my answer to this communication, of which the paper B. is a copy, the belief is expressed that it could not have been the intention of the legislature of Michigan, in authorizing the survey of the route of the proposed canal, to interfere with the military establishment at Fort Brady, nor with the improvements made by the United States connected with it, of which the mill race was deemed an important one; and lieutenant Root was accordingly instructed to inform the state contractor for opening the canal, that he could not be permitted to interfere, in his operations, with the mill race in question. This restriction was imposed under the belief that the proposed state work might be accomplished by a slight deviation from the proposed route, and in such a manner as to avoid any serious injury to the interests of the United States; in which case lieut. Root was further instructed to offer no objections to its being conducted through the military reservation. And it was supposed that a single intimation of the views of the war department on the subject, would induce the contractor and others to suspend their operations, or at least to confine them to other sections of the work than that which would cut the mill race, until the question could be decided by the proper authority at Washington. That a course so proper and conciliatory was not adopted by the contractors, instead of disregarding the wishes of the commandant and the views of the war department, by attempting, in defiance of both, to commence the work of trespass at the very point where the most serious injury to the United States was apprehended, is a matter of regret.

The accompanying papers, (marked C. and D.) are copies of letters advising of the course pursued by the state contractor, and the consequent measures for the protection of the rights and interests of the government, adopted by the commandant of Fort Brady. The one from the acting quartermaster, and the other from lieutenant colonel Whiting, deputy quartermaster general at Detroit. My answer to the latter, (marked E.) approves the views taken of the subject by col. Whiting, and authorized him to instruct lieut. Root that, provided the state engineer will assume the obligation to leave the mill race in no worse condition than it now is, to waive all objection to the prosecution of the proposed work agreeably to the plans adopted. These instructions transmitted previously to the receipt of the letter to the president, under consideration, will, it is hoped, be entirely satisfactory to the executive of Michigan.

In conclusion, I beg leave to express the belief that neither the commanding officer of Fort Brady, capt. Johnson, nor the acting assistant quartermaster, lieutenant Root, could have been influenced in the course pursued by them, by any other consideration than a sense of duty.

I herewith return the communication of governor Mason, and remain,

With great respect,

Your obedient servant,

SIR—I have the honor to report, that the legislature of the state of Michigan has made an appropriation for a canal to run around the rapids of Ste Marie river. The work has been contracted for, and is to be commenced early next spring. According to the engineer's plans, the said canal would cross the public mill race or feeder belonging to the United States' saw mill, in charge of the quartermaster's department at this post, which of course would make the mill useless until some other work should be executed in place of the present feeder. As the latter would necessarily subject the U. States to expense, I very respectfully request your orders in the case, and whether the contractors shall be allowed to proceed with the work, agreeable to their present plan.

Fort Brady, Mich., May 19, 1839.

SIR—I have the honor to report the receipt of your letter of March 6, 1839, relative to the United States mill race, and the Sault de Ste Marie canal.

In pursuance of your directions contained therein, I apprised the contractor, who arrived on the same day with your letter, 12th inst., that he would not be allowed to interfere in any way with the United States mill race, and furnishing him at the same time with a copy of the letter above referred to.

On the following day, Mr. Weeks, in the name of the contractors, sent an answer, asking whether they would be allowed to go on with the work peaceably, and stating that they were bound by the state of Michigan, to excavate under the directions of the board of internal improvement of that state, and that they had either to follow the lines run by the chief engineer of the state, or abandon the work altogether. He further said the latter would be a great loss to themselves and to the state of Michigan, while the former would occasion none to the United States.

His letter, together with the correspondence preceding it, I laid before captain Johnson, commandant of this post. He answered the contractor's agent, "that the work would not be allowed to go on, as the instructions received from the quartermaster general were positive," and "that he (capt. J.) had only to see them carried out to their full extent."

[Sen. Doc.]

Notwithstanding this, a party of laborers were employed by Mr. Weeks, on the 16th inst., to open a clearing on the line of the canal near the mill race, some of them digging on the embankment of the latter. Capt. Johnson, on receiving the intelligence, marched out a detachment of troops from this garrison, and on reaching the place of Mr. Weeks' operations, directed him to abandon the work. Upon which the latter, with his party, left the undertaking and prepared to return to Detroit.

I have the honor to be, sir,

With the greatest respect, &c.

Major Gen. TH. S. JESSUP, Q. M. Gen., U. S. A., Washington.

Detroit May 28, 1839.

COLONEL—I have heard incidentally, that the plan of the state to construct a canal around the falls of Ste Marie, has been frustrated, for the present, by instructions under which either captain Johnson or lieutenant Root was obliged to act in respect to the race way of the public mill. This mill is reported by lieutenant Root, to be in a situation which renders it almost useless without extensive repairs. I understand from a gentleman from the Sault, that the proposed canal would intersect the race way so as to increase the volume of water thrown into it, with such arrangements as could easily be made by the engineer. As it is now, the quantity occasionally fails. I have just written to lieutenant Root and suggested to him that in case he acts under instructions from the quartermaster's department, which leave him any discretion, the opening of the canal be permitted, provided the engineer will assume the obligation to leave the race way in no worse condition than it now is, and improve it if practicable. The proposed canal will no doubt hereafter be of much importance to the general interests of this section of the country, and it would probably not be worth while to frustrate its construction out of a regard to an establishment which is likely to be so little beneficial to the public as this old and almost useless saw mill.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

HENRY WHITING,

Col. H. STANTON, Acting Quartermaster General, Washington.

QUARTERMASTER GENERAL'S OFFICE, {
Washington, June 6, 1839. }

COLONEL—Your letter of the 28th ult. has been received, and I now enclose, for your information, a copy of a letter addressed from this office to lieutenant Root, acting assistant quartermaster at Fort Brady, upon the subject therein referred to. In doing which, I cannot refrain from the expression of some surprise, that a survey of the route of the proposed canal should have been made by the state engineer through the military reservation at the Sault de Ste Marie, without some intimation of such a purpose to the war department previously to its being carried into effect.

Upon the condition, however, suggested in your letter to lieutenant Root, "that the engineer will assume the obligation to leave the race way in no worse condition than it now is, and improving it if practicable," no obstacles, whatever, will be offered on the part of the war department, to the immediate prosecution of the proposed work; and you are authorized, on receiving such assurance, to instruct the acting assistant quartermaster at Fort Brady, accordingly.

I am, sir, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

(Signed,)

HENRY STANTON,

Acting Quartermaster General.

To Lieut. Col. HENRY WHITING,

Deputy Quartermaster General Detroit.

Resolutions of the Board of Internal Improvement.

Resolved, That the public documents relative to the Sault de Ste Marie ship canal, submitted to this board by his excellency Stevens T. Mason, on the 1st instant, be published in the Democratic Free Press, together with the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we view with regret the course pursued by the contractors on the ship canal at Sault de Ste Marie, and in the opinion of this board it evinces an evident want of good faith on the part of said contractors, in not prosecuting their work agreeable to the meaning and stipulations of their contract, inasmuch as abundant room was to be had on said work for them to commence and continue their labors for a length of time, without interfering with the mill race or feeder of the government saw mill at that post.

Resolved, That the contractors on the above canal be requested, and they are hereby directed, immediately to proceed energetically with their work, agreeable to the stipulations of their contract.

Resolved, That the president of the board be requested to forward a copy of the foregoing resolutions relative to the ship canal at the Sault de Ste Marie, to the engineer having charge of that work, with such instructions as he may deem expedient with regard to the same.

Resolved, That the engineer in charge of said work be directed to assure the commanding officer at Fort Brady, and also the acting assistant quartermaster at that post, that the mill race of the United States' saw mill, will not be interfered with, by which the same shall be injured, or left in any worse condition (by the construction of said canal) than it now is in.
